AMBASSADOR TO BRITAIN DIES

GAS SHORTAGE STILL SERIOUS AS COLD EASES

Shelby and Bucyrus Industries Curtail Operations; Mansfield Escapes.

Mansfield industries began the third day under gas curtailment today, still without loss of man hours or production. The grip of the severe cold wave slackened somewhat, but another cold wave threatened to reach the area tonight.

"The seriousness of the gas situation remains virtually the same, "G. K. Schooler, district manager of the Ohio Fuel Gas company, said. "Curtailments will be continued to industrial and commercial consumers until the cold breaks."

Schooler added that conservation of gas by the domestic user is still vital.

Across the state, weather observers held little hope for much warmer weather until the weekend. The mercury may climb into the 30's today, but another cold mass of air is on its way from Canada for tonight.

Temperature at 11 a. m. today was 13 above. OPS Longview substation spokesman reported a seven above average for the past 12 hours.

The low mark today was 4 above zero at 6 a. m.

500 Idle at Bucyrus.

While Mansfield industrialists fell back on stand-by equipment for manufacturing, 500 employes of the General Electric plant at Bucyrus were forced out of work by the fuel curtailment. Only maintenance workers remained on the job there.

Production was also curtailed at the Shunk Manufacturing and Crawford Steel plants in Bucyrus, as well as at four Shelby firms, Ohio Seamless-Tube, Miller-Shelby Products division, Shelby Cycle and Shelby Salesbook companies.

Three hundred west side homes in Toledo were without gas for a few hours yesterday. The Ohio Fuel Gas which supplies the city, cut gas supplies to industries, bringing lay-offs to 2,868 workers in 14 factories.

Franchise Endangered.

Last night, Toledo's city council instructed City Manager George Schoonmaker to ask the company what it proposed to do to relieve the present shortage and indicated that it might balk at renewing future franchises for the utility.

Assistant City Law Director Thomas Christian declared "public safety was threatened" and that Toledo had suffered more than any other big city in the state. He wanted an explanation of a sales campaign the company reportedly was conducting to get people to convert to gas heating.

Cleveland Pressure Normal.

East Ohio Gas company spokesmen said Cleveland pressure was normal and there were few complaints from householders. The Ferro Machine & Foundry, Inc., converted to oilburners for certain of its operations and called 2,600 employes back to work.

Two hundred night shift workers at the Lunkenheimer company in Cincinnati were ordered to stay home last night. Other Queen City factories were installing oilburners.

At Lancaster and Marion between 500 and 800 employes were reported to have been laid off because of the gas shortage.

MARTIAL LAW DATE NEARING

JERUSALEM —(INS)— Britain was reported reliably today to have completed special preparations to institute martial law in Palestine by Monday night.

Well-informed sources indicated that only a virtual "miracle" can prevent imposition of martial law.

Final arrangements were being rushed to completion in view of refusal by Jewish organizations to comply with the ultimatum of the Palestine government. The ultimatum demanded cooperation of the Jewish community in suppressing underground violence.

The attitude of both the Jewish agency for Palestine and the Vaad Leumi, the Jewish national council, toward the government's ultimatum seems to indicate that Monday's deadline will pass unheeded. The Jewish organizations were given seven days last Monday in which to accept the British demand for cooperation.

Two Contests To Be Decided By City Voters

Mansfield voters will decide only two municipal contests, both for councilman-at-large, in the May 6 primaries.

Each party will nominate three council-at-large candidates in the primaries. Five Republicans and four Democrats filed for the nominations before the deadline last night.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn, Republican, seeking a second term, and Councilman Charles O. Anglin, Democratic candidate for mayor, will oppose each other in the November election since neither has opposition in his own party.

Democrats will present a full slate of candidates in May, but the Republicans will offer no candidates to oppose the veteran City Auditor Paul L. Kelley or Fred Miller, popular Fifth ward councilman. The Fifth ward is heavily Democratic and the GOP candidate there usually runs just "for the fun of it."

Republicans competing for "at-large" nominations include Josephine Blakey, 271 North Franklin avenue; F. F. Smith, 184 Taylor road; George C. Kyle, 63 Penn avenue; Harry J. Hollingsworth, 100 Stewart avenue, and James R. Anderson, 119 Lexington avenue.

Democrats in the councilman-at-large race are Jack V. Hamilton, 334 Poplar street; J. L. Stover, 51 Glessner avenue; Michael A. Mihalick, 600 Orchard street, and Jacob P. Urschel, 447 Cline avenue.

Posts for which there will be no intra-party contests and the candidates include:

Mayor—Roy W. Vaughn, Republican incumbent, 139 Poplar street; Charles O. Anglin, Democrat, 110 Helen avenue, now serving as councilman-at-large.

Treasurer — Earle K. Troll, Democratic incumbent, 91 Stewart avenue; Albert H. Benson, Republican, 260 Walter avenue.

Solicitor — Joseph H. Ellison, Democrat, 44 Chilton avenue; Conrad J. Kalbfleisch, Republican, 158 Sturges avenue.

President of Council—William E. Bradford, Democratic incumbent, 118 Rowland avenue; Paul Bush, Republican, 49 State street, a former councilman.

First ward councilman — Fred D. Sells, Democrat, 286 South Main street; Thomas B. Wright, Republican, 248 Walter avenue.

Second ward councilman — Charles N. Shultz, Republican incumbent, 82 Parkwood boulevard; William J. Beer, Democrat, 447 Cline avenue.

Third ward councilman—Arthur E. Flood, Democrat, 232 Penn avenue; Clifford G. Knarr, Republican incumbent, 20 Ausdale avenue.

Fourth ward councilman — Arthur C. Appleman, Republican; Harry M. Bowman, Democrat, 533 Woodland avenue.

Fifth ward councilman — Fred Miller, Democratic incumbent, 335 Central avenue.

Sixth ward councilman — David N. Swihart, Democratic incumbent, 268 Superior street; Sylvester J. Shadel, Republican, 563 South Diamond street.

2 Seek Reelection.

Hollingsworth and Anderson are already in council and Kyle is a former councilman, having represented the Third ward for a number of years. Mihalich is the present Fourth ward councilman.

Smith is an Ohio Brass company employe and Mrs Blakey is a former candidate for council.

Urschel is an insurance salesman, Stover is president of the AFL teamsters' union, and Hamilton is a Westinghouse Electric corporation employe.

Independent Lighting Survey For City Urged

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Both city officials and the public generally have realized for some time the unsatisfactory condition of Mansfield's street lighting system. Acknowledgement that the system will have to be improved was voiced a year ago when the city obtained an annual allowance of $35,000 on its street lighting bill.

(Some time ago the City of Montclair, N. J., installed a new street lighting system that received nationwide attention both for its excellence and for the methods by which the system was developed. City Manager of Montclair at that time was Stuart M. Weaver.

(Mr. Weaver is now a resident of Mansfield. The News-Journal has asked him to tell his story and hereuith presents the first in a series of four interviews with him.)

By JOHN MINE

With negotiations completed for the last of Mansfield's three electric power contracts, officials are now in a position to plan for the re-vamping of the city's obsolete street lighting system.

Described by a street lighting authority as "only 20 per cent efficient," the 25-year-old system has been held largely responsible for mounting traffic deaths here.

Last year when the city's street lighting contract with the Ohio Public Service company was renegotiated a re-vamped system was discussed by city officials.

Only move to date, however, toward getting new equipment for Mansfield has been a Westinghouse Electric corporation-conducted survey to determine what new lighting the city needs.

* * *

Not Best Practice.

It is not the best practice to have a company conduct the survey and redesign the system, Stuart M. Weaver, street lighting authority and municipal government expert, says.

Weaver, in addition to criticizing a company-conducted survey, outlines other mistakes made by cities that are in the market for new and better lighting systems.

Now executive vice-president of the Ideal Electric company here, Weaver is a former instructor for

FESLER BOOMED FOR BIX'S JOB

(Earlier Story on Sports Page)

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Wesley E. Fesler, former Ohio State athletic great now coaching football at Pittsburgh university, today became the top nominee to succeed Paul Bixler as coach of Ohio State's Bucks.

Bixler's decision to leave Ohio State and succeed Andy Kerr as head football coach at Colgate university was announced today.

Richard C. (Dick) Larkins, Ohio State's athletic director-elect, admitted his old-time friend and teammate at Ohio State "certainly will be one of the first considered."

Larkins said Bixler's decision to leave caught Ohio State's athletic department "sort of flat-footed."

"We didn't know until late yesterday that Bix was leaving," Larkins said, "we've got to work fast to find a successor."

Fesler, a two-time all-America footballer at Ohio State, also starred in basketball and baseball for the Bucks 15 years ago. In school, he and Larkins, who succeeds retiring athletic director L. W. St. John next June, were pals, known as the campus' "Damon and Pythias."

Larkins played tackle and Fesler played end.

PLANE SETS RECORD

HONOLULU — (UP) — A Pan-American clipper lopped 28 hours and 22 minutes off the former scheduled travel time between Honolulu and Manila, inaugurating the line's new "Cannonball" trans-Pacific service, it was announced today.

Stores Again Offer Bargain Days Such as Packed Town In Pre-War

"Greater Mansfield Days" are back.

The twice-a-year bargain days that before the war attracted tens of thousands of shoppers to Mansfield make their postwar renewal Friday and Saturday.

Eighty retail establishments are cooperating in this first revival of what V. H. Lodde calls "the biggest bargain days of the Mansfield trading area."

Lodde is secretary-manager of the Retail Merchants association. He recalls the pre-war "Greater Mansfield Days" as events that "packed the town for two days."

* * *

HE EXPECTS this first postwar revival of a citywide cooperative sales effort to bid for similar support.

Participating stores will display large "Greater Mansfield Day" banners. Many of them will have shelves stocked with merchandise especially purchased for the sale days. Today's 36-page News-Journal contains ads galore telling about it.

Some of those items fall into the classification of "hard to get" merchandise. Other items to be offered include furniture, clothing, appliances, jewelry, and shoes.

There'll be clearances of winter merchandise.

* * *

"THE STORES have prepared to put out real values," said Lodde. "They have tried to make their selections more complete than in years."

Then Lodde became reminiscent of what he termed the "tremendous" bargain days of prewar years.

"They brought huge crowds to the city," he recalled. "People sometimes stood in line by the scores waiting for the stores to open."

Mansfield stores plan, as before the war, to sponsor two of the "Greater Mansfield Days" each year. One, as this one, will be in February. The second comes in August.

* * *

THE LAST ONE was held in 1942. Until then "Greater Mansfield Days" had been annual events since 1927.

During the war years, the semi-annual sales events were discontinued in compliance with a government request that such cooperative sales efforts not be sponsored.

SLOWDOWN THREATENS

Shortage of Freight Cars Endangers Westinghouse Operating Schedule.

(See Also Story on Page 19)

Mansfield's Westinghouse plant may be forced to curtail operations unless a greater number of railroad freight cars soon become available.

Westinghouse officials today issued a statement admitting the situation had caused "considerable concern."

They said failure to obtain sufficient cars had forced the storage of large number of appliances that now would be in the hands of consumers if transportation were available.

The statement follows:

"We understand that this shortage of empty cars is caused by the movement of empty cars to the western railroads in line with Interstate Commerce commission rulings. Efforts made to have these rulings modified so that at least part of these westbound empty cars can be loaded with merchandise for western destinations have been of no avail to date.

"The Westinghouse plant here particularly for the last three weeks has been faced with a critical shortage of freight cars. This shortage has resulted in considerable inconvenience and expense in storing completed appliances.

"Up until recently, the Westinghouse warehouses here had been practically empty as finished appliances were shipped out as fast as they were assembled for carload shipping and in many cases shipments were made in less than carload lots to expedite their delivery to consumers.

"However, the present shortage of freight cars is steadily growing worse and has now reached the point that is causing considerable concern as to whether full operating capacity can be continued indefinitely unless there is some relief in the near future."

YOUTHFUL LOTHARIO HOPES TO WED LASS

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—(INS)—Ellsworth (Sonny) Wisecarver, 18, who has been involved in romantic episodes with married women since he was 14, is looking for a job so he can marry a 16-year-old girl.

For eloping at 16 with the 25-year-old mother of two children, Wisecarver was remanded to a California state youth authority camp at Redding last year, but escaped and later obtained his freedom on a writ of habeas corpus at Ely, Nev.

Wisecarver declined to identify his prospective bride, a high school student. When he was 14 he eloped to Yuma, Ariz., with a 21-year-old mother of two children and married her. The marriage was annulled.

SEEING-EYE DOG BARRED FROM SCHOOL—Lucky, Patsy Ruth Fergus' seeing-eye dog, cocks an attentive ear as his mistress tells him he can't go to school with her in Los Angeles, Calif., under a ruling confirmed by the school board, but instead a teacher must come to her home to give the 16-year-old high school junior instruction.—(AP Wirephoto)

Catlett Seriously Ill After Second Attack

John L. Catlett, Mansfield attorney and Richland county representative to the state legislature, was reported "very seriously ill" today after suffering a second cerebral hemorrhage last night at his home.

Catlett, 32, suffered an attack Dec 30 and was in General hospital for about a month. He was returned to the hospital early today, Dr. F. J. Heringhaus, his family physician said.

"Last night's attack was a lot more serious than the first one," Dr Heringhaus said. "Mr. Catlett is in a very serious condition."

The second attack was unexpected since Dr. Heringhaus said Catlett had been showing steady improvement and during the past few days had been able to walk a little.

A navy veteran, Catlett was returned to the state legislature last fall following his navy duty. His home is at 1023 Woodland road.

Seeks Helicopter Altitude Record

DAYTON—(INS)—A new altitude record for helicopters was to be attempted today at Wright Field, Dayton.

Major Ernest Cassell, Indianapolis helicopter expert, said that he hoped to crack the German-held mark of 11,500 feet. The youthful major is aiming at the estimated absolute ceiling for an R5E Sikorsky helicopter of 20,000 feet.

DEATH STILLS VOICE OF WOMAN WHO TALKED WAY INTO BRITISH CABINET

LONDON —(AP)— Pert, tiny, red-haired Ellen Wilkinson, British minister of education and famous suffragist, died today 24 hours after entering a hospital for bronchitis.

Miss Wilkinson had been a parliamentary figure—an explosive one—since 1924, except for a defeat in the national government landslide of 1931. She spoke at terrific speed and had no particular cares about whom she picked for a foe in a verbal row. She had many of them with Lady Astor and several prime ministers.

Her death, the first in Prime Minister Attlee's cabinet since it was formed in August, 1945, was attributed to a heart attack.

Incredibly hard-working, she was the second woman ever to serve in a British cabinet. Her most lasting contribution as a cabinet member probably was her successful campaign to raise the age for leaving school from 14 to 15, a fight she won despite the opposition of fellow ministers and the acute need for young recruits for British industry.

Beginning next April, British children will be compelled to attend school until they are 15 years old.

Miss Wilkinson never disclosed her age, but Debritt's Peerage, a leading biographical authority, gave it as 55.

A member of a Manchester working class family, she trained to become a teacher but entered politics instead and won a seat in parliament in 1924.

Although she stood only four feet, nine inches tall she had made a career of badgering those persons and organizations which opposed the causes she championed, and her flaming red head was known the length and breadth of this island—and in America, too.

"No woman in the whole of Britain has been more active, more persistent or more annoying," someone once said of her, and it pleased her.

O. MAX GARDNER

SUDDEN HEART ATTACK KILLS MAX GARDNER

Former Governor of North Carolina Dies on Eve of Departure to England.

NEW YORK — (UP) — O. Max Gardner, 64-year-old ambassador to Great Britain, died today at the St. Regis hotel here of coronary thrombosis.

Gardner, former governor of North Carolina, died at 8:20 a. m., with his wife at the bedside.

He was confirmed only recently by the senate as ambassador to Great Britain, and was to have sailed today on the SS America with his wife and son, Ralph, to take up his duties at the court of St. James.

His son, and a law partner, Fred Morrison, of Washington, also were at the bedside when he died.

He had suffered a heart attack at 3:30 a. m. Medical aid was summoned, but he died less than five hours later. William Dupre, husband of Gardner's niece, said that the ambassador never previously had shown any evidence of a heart condition, and the attack "came as a complete surprise."

Appointed Dec. 4.

President Truman appointed Gardner last Dec. 4 as the new ambassador to Great Britain, the post having become vacant last September when Mr. Truman appointed the former Ambassador, W. Averell Harriman, as secretary of commerce.

Gardner was governor of North Carolina from 1929 until 1933. A wealthy textile operator, he was born in Shelby, N. C., which is still his family home. He began to practice law there in 1907 and later became president of the Cleveland Cloth Mills and a director of the Sperry corp.

He twice headed his state's delegation to Democratic national conventions—in 1924 and 1932, when the late President Roosevelt was first nominated.

He earlier served as lieutenant governor and was a member of the state senate two terms.

He married and had four children, Margaret, James W., Ralph and Max, jr. He was a veteran of the Spanish-American war.

He was a member of a Washington law firm and was named in 1944 by President Roosevelt to be chairman of the advisory board of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion. He served in this capacity two years and was selected last February to succeed Daniel W. Bell as under-secretary of treasury.

He served as a United States member of the Anglo-American committee on Palestine.

JUDGE PERMITS ENTRY OF U. S. INTO PAY CASE

Move Opens Way For Appeal To Supreme Court By Justice Department.

DETROIT—(UP)—Federal Judge Frank A. Picard today approved entry of the federal government into the Mt. Clemens (Mich.) Pottery company portal pay test case.

The decision will enable the justice department to appeal Picard's ruling in the case to the U. S. supreme court. The department said it would make such an appeal "whatever the outcome."

Picard said he would sign a formal request that the government be permitted to enter the case as a "proper party" as soon as it came to his desk.

He said he had arguments against the move by Edward Lamb, attorney for the plaintiff pottery workers, and that they had not altered his decision.

Lamb has described the government's request to enter the case as "untimely" and had decried the justice department's "hostile attitude" toward the plaintiffs.

"The government seeks to bar recovery of the plaintiffs irrespective of the evidence adduced," he said.

Invites CIO Also.

The court renewed an invitation to the national CIO also to become a party.

The company made no objection to the government's intervention but reserved the right to oppose similar petitions from any other organization, including the CIO.

Wife Asks 3rd Divorce From Same Husband

CANTON—(AP)—Mrs. June E. Cross of Canton is seeking her third divorce from the man she had married three times.

In a petition filed in common pleas court, Mrs. Cross stated that she first married her husband, Albert, in May, 1936, and divorced him the following December. They were remarried in December, 1937, this time until April, 1945, when she again divorced him.

She married Cross the third time in April, 1946. Two children were born of the second marriage.

Her petition alleged that her husband failed to provide a proper home, requiring her to live with his parents, declared her husband stayed out until early-morning hours, and asserted that he liked to spend his time in cafes.

Her attorney said Cross now worked in Warren.

OFFICER GIVES UP KEY TO GEM HOARD

SAN FRANCISCO — (UP) — An army officer, whose excellent service record led to his appointment as custodian of the Bank of Japan, was under technical arrest today pending an investigation into the source of $210,000 in diamonds he brought home with him from Japan.

The officer was Col Edward J Murray, who was stopped Monday as he stepped down the gang plank of the Westminster Victory at the Oakland army base. Customs inspectors and army intelligence officers seized two diamonds worth more than $10,000 which Murray was carrying in his watch pocket.

Wearing the Legion of Merit, the balding officer relinquished a key to a safe deposit box which customs inspectors said held a hoard of 528 gems valued at $200,000. The entire cache was confiscated because of the officer's alleged failure to declare the gems at the customs inspection. It was believed they were brought in last April during a previous visit.

2-TERM LIMIT FIGHT FLARES

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The house ordered the first pre-noon session of the new congress today to assure a vote by nightfall on the hotly disputed issue of clamping a two term limit on the presidency.

Democrats, squaring away for opening of debate on the GOP-sponsored constitutional amendment, called it "politics" and said it would "shackle" future voters.

Republicans claimed more than the required two-thirds majority. The same margin is needed in the senate to submit the proposal to the states—36 of which must ratify it.

Some house Republicans said privately, meanwhile, that President Truman has put them on the spot by repeating his recommendation for a law to make the speaker of the house and the president pro tempore of the senate next in the presidential line of succession.

Mr. Truman addressed his new request yesterday to Speaker Martin (Mass.) and Senate President Vandenberg (Mich.) both Republicans.

He said the same need for revision of the 60-year-old succession law exists now as when he first proposed it June 19, 1945.

The house passed such a bill ten days later but it got stalled in the senate.

Asks Checkup on Radio Thrillers

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Rep. Walt Horan (R-Wash) today called for a congressional investigation of radio "thrillers" and crime broadcasts to determine whether they stimulate juvenile delinquency.

Horan introduced a resolution which would direct the house interstate commerce committee to make the study. The group would determine whether it is "in the public interest" to ban such programs.

INDUSTRY HERE PROVIDES 350 VETS WITH JOBS

Mansfield area businesses and industries, as of Feb. 1, had provided on-job training opportunities for 330 disabled war veterans, G. D. Weidemaier, manager of the Mansfield sub-regional office of the Veterans' Administration, said today. Figures showed 30 disabled veterans awaiting assignment to job-training facilities as of Feb. 1.

"Generally speaking," Weidemaier said, "we have a 100 per cent turnover each month in the number of disabled veterans seeking and receiving job-training opportunities. This is due to the splendid cooperation of Mansfield area business houses and industries.

"We hope that employers will continue to remember that the disabled must be given job opportunities, and that the cooperative attitude so prevalent in our area will continue," Weidemaier said.

Weidemaier's statement came as an appeal to Ohio employers to provide job opportunities for the state's disabled World War II veterans was made by Ralph H. Stone, deputy administrator of the VA Branch office in Columbus.

Stone pointed out that more than 1,500 disabled veterans in Ohio are awaiting assignment to job training facilities. Approximately 6,250 of Ohio's disabled veterans are now enrolled in job-training courses, he said.

Mansfield area employers who are willing to accept disabled veterans as trainees in their establishments are urged to contact the VA office in Mansfield.

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

SPIKE FEELS DREADFULLY

Thrice hurts the blow that strikes at pride;
It is not lightly turned aside.
—Old Mother Nature.

Spike, son of Lightfoot the Deer, was what hunters call a spikehorn. This means that he had his first antlers, a pair of spikes a few inches long. Being his very first antlers, they filled him with such pride that he could think of little else. His twin sister, Daintyfoot, had none and this gave him a feeling of importance. Silly, wasn't it? That is what Daintyfoot thought.

All through the fall he did a lot of strutting. Folks filled with foolish pride always strut. It is one way of showing off. To begin with he felt fine, and the possession of those antlers added to that fine feeling. But with the coming of winter with its snow and ice there was more to think about than those two wonderful spikes on his head. Anyway, he thought, they were wonderful even though no one else seemed to. He was right, too. When you think that those hard, pointed horny spikes had grown out of the top of his head in a few weeks they really were wonderful. Don't you think so? Old Mother Nature is all the time doing the most wonderful things all about us and because we see them so often they seem commonplace and we wholly miss the wonder of them.

All through the fall food was plentiful and easy to get, but the coming of snow made a difference. Spike thought more about getting enough to eat and less about his antlers. Not that he forgot them No indeed. They were still a source of pride. He still was somewhat scornful of his sister because she had none. And sometimes he selfishly used them to drive her away from some choice bit of browse.

Through the fall Daintyfoot had kept out of his way more or less. They had learned to look out for themselves, to be independent. All summer they had seen little of their mother. She had no time for them, having two pretty babies to watch over. Lightfoot, their father, had kept off by himself most of the time. His wonderful new crown of antlers with many points was growing then, but Spike knew nothing of this. Through the fall his mother and the fawns had still kept out of sight more or less, but he had often seen Lightfoot and taken care to keep out of his way for his father seemed always to be looking for a chance to fight, to show off his strength and those wonderful antlers, and how he could use them.

The deepening of the snow had brought all together, Lightfoot,

Being his first antlers, they filled him with such pride that he could think of little else.

Mrs. Lightfoot with the fawns, Daintyfoot and Spike. Together they could keep paths trodden through the snow to the eating places. Each alone would have found this difficult to do, even impossible for the younger ones. Lightfoot or Mrs. Lightfoot might have managed alone, but the others couldn't have. But together they kept the paths trodden down in what is called a yard. This is where the Deer are fenced in by the deep snow outside those trodden paths.

For a few days Spike had a feeling of something not being just right on top of his head. His head didn't ache. It wasn't sore. It was just a queer feeling. Then as he reached up for a mouthful of browse one of those spikes hit a twig. For a moment his head hurt a little. Then something fell at his feet. He stared at it stupidly, not realizing what it was. Of course you know what it was—one of those small antlers. You have had a tooth become loose and finally come out while you were eating, or you have pulled it out with your finger without it hurting much because it was ready to come out. It was that way with that antler.

Not even when Daintyfoot began to make fun of him because he had only one antler could he believe that he had lost one. It just couldn't be. But when the other began to feel loose and the very next day it fell at his feet he had to believe. What had seemed impossible had happened. He didn't understand it at all, but it was true. Perhaps you can guess how dreadfully he felt. All his pride had dropped with those antlers, and in its place was a feeling of shame. He shouldn't have felt so, but he did.

The next story: Spike Has Another Shock."

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

Cliff Alderman, editor of Our Navy magazine, avers that the toughest gent who ever wore the uniform of the U. S. Navy was one Bottlehead O'Toole, a 230-pound hulk of human flesh, who derived his nickname from the fact that he was wont to open bottles of whiskey by casually cracking them against his skull.

When Bottlehead O'Toole was on the loose, few men had the temerity to cross him. One night in 1906, Bottlehead lurched into "Poison Benny's" saloon on Pacific street in San Francisco. Bottlehead had definitely imbibed too many and Poison Benny, the one man in all San Francisco who was tough enough himself to defy O'Toole, flatly refused to sell him another drink.

Bottlehead roared with fury. He drew back his great ham of a fist and cried, "Gimme whiskey or by —— —— I will tear down the whole —— —— —— place." That was all that Bottlehead O'Toole remembered. At that precise moment, the great earthquake (or, as native San Franciscoans will have it, The Great Fire) engulfed the city. Bottlehead awoke amidst the debris. He looked about with dawning admiration. "Why didn't somebody tell me," he marveled, "that I was that strong?"

Union Sounds Warning Against Flat Rent Increase

500,000 HOME UNITS LOCKED, SAY LANDLORDS

New 'Hardship' Regulations Give Building Owners Right to Protest

WASHINGTON — (UP) — A spokesman for the Textile Workers Union of America warned congress today that a general rent increase would provoke "serious industrial strife."

John W. Edelman, the union's Washington representative, sounded the warning in testimony before a five-man senate banking subcommittee which is considering extension of rent control beyond June 30. The subcommittee's three Republican members favor a flat increase of anywhere from five to 15 per cent.

A spokesman for landlords testified that property owners have locked up an estimated 500,000 rental housing units rather than submit to government discrimination." He said they would be opened only when congress provides more liberal rent policy.

Edelman submitted statements from textile union officials in Missouri, Georgia, Tennessee, Virginia and North and South Carolina. They said there would be trouble if congress raises the rents that textile workers are paying for $20-a-month "outworn shacks."

Changes Developing

Meanwhile there were these other rent developments

1. Senators generally frowned on a proposal by three Republicans to junk OPA on April 30 and leave rent control up to state legislatures. Many senators thought the plan "okay" in principle, but "unwise" in practice.

2. OPA's new "hardship" regulations on rent ceilings were to go into effect upon publication in the federal register, scheduled for today. An OPA official said they would be equivalent to almost a 10 per cent increase in some cases.

Under the new rules, a landlord can get a rent increase by showing that his present rent is lower than the prevailing level in his area. He also can get an increase by showing that, because of higher operating costs, his current net operating income is lower now than it was during any two-year base period since Jan. 1, 1939.

In his testimony before the banking subcommittee, Edelman asked that rent controls be continued in its present form for another year. But two landlord witnesses said congress should authorize a flat 15 per cent increase and lift rent controls from new housing.

The landlords were William E. Russell, chairman of the Metropolitan Fair Rent committee, New York City, and Arthur W. Binns, Philadelphia, president of the National Home and Property Owners association.

Binns estimated that at least 500,000 rental housing units are being withheld. He said the landlords locked their doors because they were "discouraged at the unfair discrimination of the government against them." Hundreds of thousands of new construction projects have been abandoned for the same reason, he said.

COUPLES HEAR FARM EXPERT

Members of the Richland county Farm and Home school last night heard a talk by C. I. Hummell, agriculture specialist of the Federal Reserve Bank in Cleveland. The meeting was held at the Central Methodist church.

Hummell told the young farm couples that to attain success the farmer needs three basic qualifications.

They are: experience, land and equipment, and an interested wife.

Hummell discussed the "Wise Use of Credit in Agriculture." The group filled out family net worth statements and computed farm income on the cash receipts and disbursements basis from an average attained from a group of 50 representative farms.

Since last night's meeting was the last scheduled program in the first Farm and Home school, couples were asked for suggestions and to indicate whether they want to have the school continued. The suggestions will be assembled and studied by a committee.

U. S. DOUBLES SUGAR RATION

Mansfield housewives received the good word today that "there's plenty of sugar now."

The government pushed validation of the next sugar stamp ahead one month. The new stamp, worth 10 pounds, will become valid April 1. Its number will be announced later. Former stamps were worth only five pounds.

Liberalizing of the sugar ration came as Mansfield wholesale grocers, Tracy & Avery, Bissman and A. F. Remy companies, unanimously reported "plenty of sugar." Avery Hand sr., president of Tracy and Avery's, said shipments were coming through promptly from the east coast.

As a result of the 10-pound sugar order, Stamp 53, which became valid Jan. 1, needs to be stretched only three months instead of four. It becomes void after March 31.

In Washington, the INS reported, officials appeared to be getting ready for a sizeable increase in the household sugar allocation. The amount of the increase will depend on imports. It appeared likely, however, that every holder of a sugar ration stamp would receive 35 pounds this year instead of the 25 pounds allotted last year.

Engineers Hear Radar Lecture

"Micro-Radar in War and peacetime" was the subject of a lecture-demonstration presented to members of the Mansfield section, American Institute of Electrical Engineers at a meeting last night in the Talbot hotel in Galion.

Oliver Henderson of the engineering transmission section of the Ohio Bell Telephone laboratories in Cleveland, was the speaker.

That micro-radio and light waves behave similarly was demonstrated during the lecture by means of a 10,000-megacycle unit and related equipment from the Ohio Bell Telephone company.

A buffet lunch was served at the conclusion of the program. A number of Mansfield radio amateurs attended the lecture-demonstration.

BUCYRUS WOMAN INJURED IN FALL

URBANA — (INS) — A Bucyrus woman was seriously injured and a Bellefontaine man less critically hurt today as a result of a tumble from a fourth-floor window of an Urbana hotel.

The woman, in critical condition in a Urbana hospital, was identified as Mrs. Oma Ruth Ulmer, 24-year-old divorcee of 207 North Walnut stret, Bucyrus. The man, the father of five children, was Judson Harmon Davis, 36, of 136 North Main street, Bellefontaine.

Davis told authorities that he and Mrs. Ulmer had registered at the hotel as Mr. and Mrs. Davis and had gone to their room. He said they backed out of the window while in a "playful scuffle." Hotel Clerk Ray Otto said they had been in their room only about 10 minutes when the accident occurred.

Davis is engaged in the jewelry business with his father at Bellefontaine. He explained he met Mrs. Ulmer when he operated a jewelry store in Bucyrus from 1944 to 1946.

Boston Censor Wants Changes In O'Neil Play

BOSTON —(INS)— Boston's city fathers may hang out a "No Ice" sign today.

Producers of Eugene O'Neil's play "The Iceman Cometh" must agree to delete or change 25 or 30 allegedly obscene phrases.

City Censor Walter R. Milliken recently reviewed the play in New York. He promptly notified Joseph Heidt, business agent of the Theater Guild, who plans to bring the play to Boston, of necessary substitutions.

Milliken also conferred with Mayor James M. Curley. The mayor said he would make every effort to compromise. He insisted, however, that certain words will have to be changed.

Scope of Two Ohio Liquor Investigations Broadens

COFALL PLANS RECORD CHECK BACK TO 1942

Governor Asks Study of All Licenses Granted Since Nov. 1 of Last Year.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — The scope of Ohio's two parallel liquor probes was doubled today.

Governor Herbert requested Attorney General Hugh S. Jenkins to scrutinize all liquor permits granted since November 1, and the special senate liquor investigating committee asked liquor director Stanley B. Cofall to furnish records back to 1942.

Previously the Jenkins inquiry into club permits alone had extended only to the last six weeks of the Lausche administration, while senate majority leader Frank E. Whittemore, sponsor of the resolution establishing the committee, indicated the senate group would investigate only the last two years.

Sen. Roscoe Walcutt (R-Columbus), chairman of the five-member senate committee, announced that Sen. Kyle Brooks (R-Cincinnati) was named secretary of the probe group.

Committee Meets.

The committee met with its chief investigator, Attorney Frank J. Collopy of Columbus, who told them of the pledges of cooperation he had received from Herbert, Jenkins and Cofall.

Collopy also reported that he hopes to have his plan of operations completed by next week, and after that, Walcutt said, "we will conduct public hearings as soon as possible."

The committee also asked Cofall for the current rules and regulations under which the state liquor board operates.

The committee was established to probe rumors and reports of irregularities within the department over a long-term span, and does not conflict with the Jenkins investigation of permits granted after former Governor Lausche was defeated by Herbert in his bid for re-election.

Herbert, in announcing the extension of the Jenkins probe, told newsmen that "the investigation thus far justifies scrutinizing all classes of permits back at least another month."

Jenkins, meanwhile, said he has not as yet conferred directly with the entire senate group and did not immediately contemplate doing so, although he has promised them all possible cooperation.

The attorney general also made a point of telling newsmen there was "absolutely no truth" to published reports that the name of house majority leader Paul L. McCormick (R-Logan) appeared "in any fashion" in the files he has under investigation.

Herbert stated also that he hoped the attorney general's review of permits would be completed soon, stating that he did not expect to keep the 11 high-

Ex-Crestline Resident Dies In Tennessee

CRESTLINE—Mrs. Mary Ethel Smith, 77, formerly of Crestline, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Leo Weaver, in Lewisburg, Tenn.

Mrs. Smith had lived in Crestline all of her life until she moved to Tennessee six years ago. She formerly was a worthy matron of the Eastern Star here.

Her husband, Leroy Smith, died 24 years ago.

NEWCOMERS IN RACE

MASSILLON — (AP) — Joseph Wherley and Homer C. Pierce, both newcomers to politics here, will try for the Republican nomination for mayor along with Mayor S. Robert Weirich this spring. On the Democratic ticket will be Leo H. Helline, World War II veteran and filling station operator, and Harvey E. Schrock, a labor union leader.

STREET LIGHTING SURVEY URGED

the Institute for Training in Municipal Administration.

More important, he is a civil engineer and knows good street lighting because he helped map and carry out a revised and up-to-date lighting system for Montclair, N. J., a city about the size of Mansfield.

* * *

Aggressive Action.

Says Weaver, "this municipality (Montclair) like so many others, was lighted by an obsolete, unplanned system, most of it over 20 years old.

"Aggressive action, which backed up the recommendation made by an independent consultant, inspired the local utility company to revise its conception of street lighting in accordance with Montclair's plan," he said.

Weaver emphasized the need for an "independent consultant." He recommends a consulting engineer who has no obligations to power companies or manufacturers.

"A consulting engineer who is not independent of all other interests is too likely to give those other interests consideration," he said.

"A city should consult someone who has the desire of designing a lighting system which will do maximum service for the public," Weaver explained.

Admitting that a city engineer might get some valuable suggestions from a company, Weaver nevertheless lists certain pitfalls if a city calls upon a company for a completely designed system.

"1. Companies, whether they supply the power or fixtures, cannot spend enough on the study to produce the best results.

"2. Utility companies cannot be expected to recommend the most effective lighting equipment if it means scrapping part or all of their obsolete system. That isn't human," Weaver continued. "Such changes are most unlikely, even though the obsolete system has been retired two or three times out of street lighting rates paid by the city.

"3. Manufacturing companies are not as free as they should be to make such sweeping recommendations for expensive modernization; they must consider their utility customers who will foot the bill for the improvement," he concluded.

(Tomorrow: Planning the Street Lighting System.)

SEEKS THIRD TERM

CANTON —(AP)— Mayor Carl Klein is after his third term but Frank Cutshall, city council president, will oppose him on the Democratic primary ticket this spring. Republicans who have filed are J. Stewart Ake, former Councilman Charles O. Tressel, Arthur K. Williams, Fred G. Sharp and Thomas J. Butler.

New Telephone Books Going Out

Delivery of new Mansfield telephone directories, begun yesterday, may not be completed until Tuesday or Wednesday of next week because of the cold weather, Mansfield telephone company officials said today.

Approximately 1,200 new subscribers have been added to the company's directory since a year ago, hiking the total to 20,000 phones in the Mansfield area.

The attractive new directories, jacketed in a grey-green cover, provide a space on the inside back cover for frequently called telephone numbers.

FIVE BUCYRUS OFFICERS QUIT PRIMARY RACE

Mayor Amann of Galion Seeks Reelection as Opponent Appears.

Bulletin

BUCYRUS—No primary will be held in Bucyrus or Crestline, an official of the Crawford county election board said today. The decision was made at a meeting of the board last night, the spokesman said.

BUCYRUS—Coincident with the filings of the candidates of a complete GOP city ticket came the announcement yesterday of the retirement of five present city officials.

Officials who will not seek reelection are City Auditor E. C Oppenlander, Councilman-at-large Chester Sharrock and J. A. Hull, Fourth Ward Councilman Chester Huneke and Treasurer Esther Dobbins.

Added to the list of Republican candidates Wednesday were James V Berry, candidate for city auditor; Clinton W. Ackerman, candidate for councilman-at-large and Burdelle F. Smith, first ward councilman.

Democrats announcing their candidacies before the Wednesday deadline were John Dostal, candidate for city auditor; Dr. D. D. Bibler, councilman-at-large and John Truka, fourth ward councilman. Democrats are still without a candidate for city treasurer and one councilman-at-large.

Dr. James E. Frey, Democrat, who was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Fred Judd as councilman at large, will be in the Democratic race along with Joe Kaupp, first ward councilman; Bruce Sharrock, second ward; Edgar Adams, third ward; Ed Carter, president of council, and R. L. Hertzer, who is a candidate for reelection.

Republicans who announced their candidacies earlier in the week were C. W. Warnock, retired produce dealer, candidate for mayor; Robert Spurlock, candidate for city solicitor and Mrs. Macie Krauter, candidate for city auditor.

DR. H. H. HARTMANN SEEKS ELECTION AS GALION MAYOR

GALION—A mayoralty race developed here yesterday when Dr. H. H. Hartmann, Galion physician, announced he would enter the city primary as a Democratic candidate for mayor. He will be opposed by the present incumbent, Mayor William Amann.

Dr. Hartmann formerly served nine terms as mayor of Galion in the 1920's and 30's.

Meanwhile, four present councilmen announced they would not seek reelection. The councilmen, all Democratic, are Arthur A. Connor and Harry L. Volk, both councilmen-at-large; Fred Sautter, first ward, and Oscar L. Rensch, fourth ward.

Democratic candidates for councilmen-at-large are Floyd O. Myers, John Voss, Elmer Thatcher and Clyde Richardson. O. E Neal and William Hearn announced they would be candidates for first ward councilmen and William H. Kunkel said he would seek reelection as second ward councilman.

Incumbent Richard L. Ganshorn will seek reelection as third ward councilman, while W. F. Fetter is a candidate for fourth ward councilman.

Seeking the post as city solicitor are Incumbent F. M. Shumaker; George H Davies, former solicitor and George W. Coble.

Unopposed incumbents for city posts include Auditor Gloyd Frye, Treasurer Cho Kreiter and Otto Peifer, president of council.

Republican candidates include Harry Jackson, for mayor; Herman Eichhorn, president of council; Lester Tupps, M. G. Thompson and Roma Stahl, councilman-at-large: Paul Edward, first ward, John Anker, third ward and Ralph Graham, fourth ward.

COOK SEEKS SHELBY POST AS MEMBER OF COUNCIL

SHELBY—David W. Cook, present fourth ward councilman, today announced he would seek the councilman-at-large post at the non-partisan primaries on May 6.

The post now is held by Ross Sipes, who has not disclosed whether he would seek reelection. Cook was named to fill the unexpired term of the late Boyd Boreman as fourth ward councilman.

M. E. Berkley, Shelby real estate and insurance agent, yesterday announced he would oppose W. R. Morris, Shelby attorney, as a candidate for mayor.

FULL DEMOCRATIC TICKET ASSURED IN CRESTLINE

CRESTLINE—Crestline was assured a full Democrat ticket in the city primaries in May when intentions of candidacy were filed before the deadline Wednesday. Albert P. Sonner, incumbent mayor, will again head the ticket which will include the names of the present board of trustees. John W. Hoke, Levi Perrott and C. E. Boals.

Others who have filed are Marie Schill, clerk; Henry E. Gresmer, treasurer and Wilbur Emmer, Martin J. Long, Howard Foltz, George Glauer, Edward H. Blocker and Grover T. Weis, councilmen.

TINKERING PAYS OFF—Clarence H. Holderness, Galion postal clerk, is shown with his unique three-wheel delivery motor-bike which he constructed during his spare time. He has two patents pending for developments in the drive wheel and frame. Holderness formerly was a machine apprentice in the old Erie railroad shops in Galion.

Galion Postal Clerk Rebuilds Cycles, Motor-Bikes as Hobby

By CATHERINE RORICK
N-J State Correspondent

GALION—A hobby which has paid off is that pursued by Clarence H. Holderness, Galion postal clerk who repairs and rebuilds old bicycles and has developed a unique three-wheel delivery motor-bike.

Holderness's unusual vehicle contains a specially-designed drive wheel and frame for which he has patents pending. It is driven by a two-horsepower air-cooled gasoline engine, and the motor-bike is capable of a speed of 25 miles per hour.

* * *

BUT THE AMATEUR inventor already has more ambitious plans, and he hopes to install a five-horse power engine soon, which would increase the capacity and speed of the vehicle considerably.

Three persons may ride on the seat, while the delivery compartment in the rear will hold a surprising amount of luggage or parcels.

Holderness picked up his knowledge of mechanics when he served a four-year machinist apprenticeship in the old Erie railroad shops here years ago.

* * *

"FOR THE PAST eight years, I have been tearing down and putting together old bicycles," he said. "I only did it as a hobby, but now I could have a real business if I had more time."

He works in his "shop" in a garage at the rear of his home at 360 West Atwood street. He specializes in repairing and rebuilding small four-cycle engines.

In addition to tearing down bicycles and motors, he finds time to keep the power mowers for schools and cemeteries in Iberia, Lexington, Crestline and Galion in condition.

* * *

ANOTHER SPECIALITY which Holderness has developed is the rebuilding of old bicycles into "new" junior bicycles. He cuts down and rebuilds frames and attaches smaller wheels.

Since bicycle factories have not made junior-sized bicycles for some years, his services are much in demand, and Holderness has made many a child happy with his completed product.

Holderness is proud of his hobby, and said happily, "many of my motor-bikes have been all over the state."

Warden Renamed Head of Autocall

SHELBY — J. H. Warden, president of the Autocall company of Shelby, headed the slate of officers of the firm which was reelected at the annual stockholders and directors meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Also renamed were Roy Van Wagner, vice president and treasurer, H C. Munchausen, vice president; W. B. Kuhn, secretary, and H. M. Smith, assistant treasurer.

BUSINESS MEN OPPOSE METERS

CRESTLINE — Despite opposition from Crestline businessmen, the city council today was continuing with plans for the installation of parking meters here.

A petition signed by Crestline businessmen urging that the city cancel its contract for parking meters was turned down by the council at a meeting Monday night.

Members pointed out that the contract for a nine-month trial period already has been signed with the Dual Parking Meter company of Canton.

Under terms of the contract revenue received from the meters during the trial period will go to the city.

The financial report for 1936 was presented by Clerk Mary Schill and accepted by council. The council also appointed Wilbur McCammon as a regular patrolman. He had served a six-month probation period.

Mr. Conner will be 81 years of age his next birthday, July 29th and Mrs. Conner is 76 years old.

Galion Establishes No Parking Zones

GALION—Police Chief James L. Walker has announced two additional no parking areas in the factory district. The order is authorized by city ordinance which permits the police department to establish no parking, standing areas and stop streets.

The new zones are on both sides of Smith street for 200 feet east of the intersection of South East street and Smith street, and the east side of South East street for 50 feet from the intersection of Smith and Southeast streets.

Tiro Owl Club Is Busy Again

TIRO — Ross McKinney, Tiro machinist, today was the somewhat puzzled owner of a telephone pole cutter. The wierd instrument was attached to the front bumper of McKinney's new auto in a ceremony Tuesday night by members of the Tiro Owl club, an organization of funsters.

McKinney's pole cutter was designed to cut off phone poles which might appear in front of the automobile, "thus preventing damage to the car," an anonymous member asserted.

The Owl club several months ago presented John Neff, of Tiro, with an "owl gun," a converted double-barrelled shot gun with a curved barrel "to shoot around trees."

BUILDING PERMITS ISSUED IN SHELBY

SHELBY — Only four building permits for new construction with a total valuation of $5,000 were issued in January, Finance Director Chester P. Monn announced today.

C. T. Wilson, 16 Second street, received one for a $130 garage; Harold E. Myers, Vernon road, $4,000, frame dwelling; Lloyd Hench, 148 West Park drive, remodelling and converting garage into house, $600; and D. E. Weidner, 41 North Broadway, remodel frame house, $350.

Total valuation of new construction last year totaled approximately three-quarters of a million dollars.

SHOW ACCLAIMED

COUNCIL SEEKS TRAFFIC CODE

BUCYRUS — Establishment of a new traffic code for Bucyrus was assured today after the city council ordered drafted a set of recommendations by the safety department.

The new code will be the first since 1930, and will establish 11 new through streets in addition to the nine already established; will restrict parking in certain designated sections and no parking regulations in addition to other new provisions.

In keeping with the movement toward greater traffic safety, Safety Officer Charles Ghist told council that property damage in 1946 due to automobile accidents was between $80,000 and $90,000.

Other issues up before council this week was the year-old question of establishing a north side fire station, and purchase of new city equipment.

Still considering recommendations made by a special advisory committee for more adequate fire protection, the finance committee asked for further time, declaring that it would require a $40,000 bond issue to carry out the recommendations.

BEE GROUP MEETS

BUCYRUS—Elmer A. McAdams of Bucyrus; Roe Hanna, of Tiro, and John Danner, of Galion, were named bee inspectors at the annual organization meeting of the Crawford County Bee Producers association here Tuesday night. Twenty beekeepers attended the session.

The board of education approved the temporary increase at its monthly meeting Monday. Teachers working on a part-time basis were given proportionate increases.

The board also passed the 1947 appropriation measure, and adopted a new general science book for grades seven, eight and nine.

Orie Garverick was reappointed as a member of the library board for a seven-year term. President Frank McNeal presided at the meeting.

Getting a thing done is sometimes easier than thinking up reasons why it can't be done.

Utopia is now described as the place where subdivisions are full of vacant houses for sale or rent, and where families with children are welcomed.

Out in Los Angeles—where anything can happen—a pedestrian was hospitalized from injuries suffered in a collision with another pedestrian.

'Reasonable Profit' Should Be Enough

ARGUMENTS by union labor spokesmen that wages can be substantially increased without raising prices hinges so largely upon assumption of excessive profits that this element needs be taken into account in connection with present and prospective wage negotiations.

While emphasis has been placed on specific instances of extremely large profits by some big industries, the matter of other competing industries that have returned only a small profit, merely "broken even," or possibly suffered losses, is entirely disregarded in presenting demands for wage increases.

While there is no denial of the right to a reasonable profit on the capital investment in industrial operations and the "know how" of management, revelation of excessively large profits by any one enterprise clearly evidences that prices of its products could be reduced, while prices might have to be raised by a competitor in order to assure stability.

Each industry—and each business enterprise, for that matter—must adjust its own outgo, in wages and other operating costs, to its income, if it is to succeed and continue to provide employment opportunities.

Therein lies the fallacy of attempting to establish hard-and-fast wage scales for industry-wide application, based on the idea that excessive profits are common to all industries and businesses alike, rather than being confined to relatively few.

With emphasis being placed on the importance of encouraging "small" business" and with some large enterprises already operating at a loss, persistence with which demands for further wage increases are being pushed—while lower prices are being urged—indicates that all factors entering into the situation are not fully understood by either the workers themselves or by operators of industries and businesses that continue to pile up huge profits but refuse to reduce prices.

'Pay-As-You-Go' Policy Favored

OHIO TAXPAYERS can get part of that tight feeling out of the pits of their stomachs. The state legislature shows signs of resisting pleas for new spending. A caucus of the Republican house majority has decided against deficit spending and Gov. Thomas J. Herbert has endorsed the "pay-as-you-go" system of financing.

This means that, in all probability, requests for funds by schools, local governments and other groups will have to be cut.

Gov. Herbert says he believes the state surplus should be used only for capital improvements or expenses which will not recur regularly every two years. At present the state has $160,000,000 in its surplus. Of this, $90,000,000 has been tied up in the postwar reserve fund. Another $60,000,000 has been appropriated for capital improvements. The remaining $11,000,000 may be swallowed up by increased cost of the capital improvements since the original appropriations were made.

At any rate, if present trends hold, the only alternative to cutting increased school and local government requests would appear to be new taxation.

Taxpayers would certainly rather pay more to meet a proven need than to abandon the "pay as you go" plan and saddle the state with a debt to be paid off when money is far less plentiful than now.

Nobody likes taxes. But it is infinitely preferable to pay while the voter has control over current expenditures.

You Just Can't Trust Everybody!

IF THE STORY that came by Associated Press from New York yesterday—about two Mansfield night club operators handing out $25,500 to a couple of strangers who promised to send them 300 cases of Scotch whisky—turns out to be an accurate recital of the incident—then surely there must be a moral concealed about it somewhere.

Not since the old days when the Brooklyn bridge was being regularly sold to visiting yokels, and gold bricks were a common commodity, has there been a more intriguing story of treacherous behavior on the part of affable and apparently well-disposed strangers.

Of course if it isn't everybody who can fork over $25,500 in currency——but those who are so fortunately situated as to be able to do so should be especially alert to make sure of the dependability of persons to whom they pay it—else sometime they may be swindled.

Morgenthau's Controversial 'Diary'

WHEN are a man's personal papers his own? This becomes a delicate and debatable point in the case of retiring public officials. Witness the stir caused over removal of a 900-volume diary by former Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr. Mr. Morgenthau in Los Angeles expressed willingness to return any papers his successor, John W. Snyder might want. Likewise criticism comes from the department of the interior that former Secretary Harold L. Ickes removed many filing cases containing official papers. Mr. Ickes also has announced his agreement to legitimate inspection of any of these documents now in his possession.

To avoid such questions in the future, President Truman is said to be planning steps to prevent high government officials from taking papers with them when leaving government employ. Such public servants henceforth will be required to keep separate their private and public files. That's a hard assignment, too, for a good public servant becomes so identified with his job that the line between his private and his official life is often not discernible by himself or those about him.

A confessed kidnaper has been sentenced to 150 years imprisonment, in addition to three life terms—but the chances are he'll not live through it.

It has been decided by a cable editor that the expression, "temperamental tenor" involves the unnecessary use of a long adjective.

Harry Wade wonders: "Was it sometime between the first and second divorces that Mickey Rooney went into long pants?"

THE LOST BATTALION

Heralded as a 'Second John Hay', Tribute Is Paid To Max Gardner

Editor's Note—The following article by Drew Pearson was written in anticipation of opportunity for fine service by O. Max Gardner as United States ambassador to England. The unexpected death of Mr. Gardner in New York this morning changes this into a timely tribute to the admirable qualities which marked the career of this distinguished American.

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Today, ex-Governor O. Max Gardner of North Carolina sails for his new post as American ambassador to the Court of St. James. Ambassador Gardner has done a lot of varied and difficult things in his life, from hoeing corn to running the United States treasury, but this is the first time he has tried his hand at diplomacy.

It is not, however, the first time he has visited England. Exactly 42 years ago, Max landed in England under somewhat different circumstances. He had crossed on a cattle boat as "nursemaid" to 500 seasick steers. (His old friend, Boy Reynolds, later Senator from North Carolina, has recruited Max as a cattle hand and then bossed the job.)

Arriving in London on the day the British were holding memorial services for the late U. S. Ambassador John Hay, Gardner hailed a hansom cab and drove out to St. Paul's cathedral to attend the ceremony. En route he got into conversation with the cab driver who inquired regarding the identity of John Hay.

Gardner might have explained that Hay was former secretary of state and former ambassador to Great Britain. Instead, he replied:

"Hay is the man who wrote 'Little Breeches'."

* * *

Loafing Around Throne.

Then the future U. S. ambassador to Great Britain recited from memory John Hay's famous poem, "Little Breeches," the story of an Indiana youngster who got lost in a snowstorm when his team stampeded and was finally found asleep in a haymow. The last stanza concludes:

"How did he get thar? Angels.
He could never have walked in that storm;
They jest scooped down and toted him
To whar it was safe and warm.
And I think that saving a little child.
And fotching him to his own.
Is a darned sight better business
Than loafing around the throne."

Little did the 23-year-old Gardner dream, as he recited "Little Breeches" to that London hansom driver, that 42 years later he was to be selected, as he now describes it, to "loaf around the throne."

The fact that Ambassador Gardner has the sense of humor to tell this story on himself, however, indicates that he will come close to being another John Hay at the Court of St. James.

Born in the same general backbone part of the nation as John Hay, Ambassador Gardner probably would prefer to sit on his front porch at Shelby, N. C., in the old rocking chair given him by the Negroes of the town 35 years ago when they contributed 20 cents each to buy him a wedding present. Or he would prefer working on his farm or supervising the school he has endowed in western North Carolina.

Max Gardner, however, will do a great job. When the luxury liner SS America docks with him aboard, the white-spatted British diplomats who meet him will not know that the first time he touched the soil of England was from a cattle boat.

And when he talks to prime ministers and potentates on Anglo-American problems, they won't know that his favorite lecture topic at the University of North Carolina was on the science of picking fertilizer for corn and tobacco.

They won't know this. But Max won't hesitate to tell them.

For the new ambassador is proud of his background. And while he already has received 2,600 applications from American society matrons asking that their daughters be presented at the Court of St. James, it is a 100-to-1 bet that Max will get a lot more fun entertaining old friends from North Carolina than "loafing around the throne."

Righting An Old Wrong.

Secretary of War Patterson has a long memory when it comes to mistakes—especially if he makes them himself. When Patterson makes a mistake, he will do his best to rectify it.

Probably it was a lucky thing for GI's that Patterson pulled a boner about army discharges in a press conference on Guam. For, having made an error, Patterson did his best to make it up to the GI's and the special board to revamp the caste system was one result.

Earlier, the army made a bad mistake on long-range pursuit planes. Major de Seversky, the hard-hitting ex-Russian flier, had begged and implored the air corps to build long-range fighter planes, also urged armor plate for bombers. In return he got a slap in the face from General Hap Arnold, then chief of the air corps.

Later, Pearl Harbor caught us with no long-range fighters and with only a start toward putting armor plate on bombers. The mistake not only delayed the war, but cost lives.

Secretary Patterson was not responsible for that mistake, but realizing it had been made, he set out to rectify it. Toward the end of the war he called in Major de Seversky, asked him to undertake an all-battle-front study of U. S. air services.

And to further atone for the kicking around given to de Seversky, Patterson today is giving him the Medal of Merit for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service to the United States."

Note—Speaking of rectifying mistakes, air force officers this week take exception to a recent statement in this column that the air forces aren't enthusiastic over their sub-cabinet rank in the proposed army-navy merger. They state that, on the contrary, they are delighted to accept this arrangement. The column is glad to make this correction.

Two-Car Republicans.

Representative Ewing Thomason, Democrat of Texas, drove into the congressional parking lot last week, spent about five minutes looking for a place to park his car. Finally, he asked a guard:

"Isn't there some place a congressman can put his car? I thought this lot was reserved for members of congress."

"Sure it is, Congressman," replied the guard, "but it's different this year. Most of the Democrats used to have a car, but this year the Republicans all seem to have two cars—and they're all in this free parking lot."

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, Feb. 6, 1927.

Eightieth birthday anniversary of S. N. Ford, long prominent in Mansfield industrial and business circles.

Two hundred Boy Scouts attended special service at First Congregational church and heard sermon by Rev. Harry Trust on "The American Boy Proving Himself Worthy of His Privileges."

Memorial service was held at First Christian church for County Auditor John A. Howard, who met death in auto accident near Butler.

Jonathan Glee club gave concert at Y. W. C. A. vesper service, under direction of A. A. Bellore.

Carl Reid, of the Cleveland Playhouse, directed rehearsal of "Waffin's Wharf," to be produced by Community Players in new high school auditorium.

Miss Mary Mead, student at Laurel school, Cleveland, was home for the week-end.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Clemens, 9 Raymond avenue.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

On February 6, 1894, the Hungarian House of Representatives voted to make civil marriage compulsory throughout the country.

Dave Boone Says:

GIL DODDS, famous track athlete, went almost directly from a victory in Madison Square Garden to the pulpit of a church where he preached a sermon emphasizing the importance of clean living to any athlete. In an hour of "fixes," bribery probes, and loose ethics in the sports world this is something of a major novelty.

* * *

"Whether I win or lose I always praise the Lord," said Dodds, "for making it possible for me to run." And, "the body is the temple of God. Those who keep it fit are better able to carry on God's work."

* * *

I had begun to suspect that the day of the athlete who went out of his way to emphasize clean living, self-denial, and the straight and narrow path was over.

* * *

It sure is a treat to see a top athlete in a pulpit just now instead of before a district attorney, a court, an athletic board or a group of high-bidding pro sports promoters.

"Atomic Concept" of Foreign Relations.

WASHINGTON — A quiet but intensive battle has been going on behind the scenes of the senate atomic energy hearings on Capitol Hill during recent days.

It is the struggle of certain leading American scientists to prevent the United States from being lulled into even a temporary sense of security over its possession of some atomic bombs and the methods and mechanics for making more.

Testimony tending to strengthen that sense of momentary security has stressed that it took us two billion dollars and several years to develop the dreadful weapon. The assumption is that, in order to equal our atomic progress, a competing country would have to expend a duplicate amount of time, energy, manpower and money.

According to the men who made the first atomic bomb, no assumption could be more dangerously untrue.

For instance, although we spent more than half of that two billion dollars on the Oak Ridge project alone, J. H. Rush, an official in the Federation of American Scientists says flatly that "we know now that Oak Ridge need never have been built!"

And when he says "we" he means it already is public knowledge among scientists around the world. It was made public through the first report of the United Nations atomic energy commission.

Appendix Three of that report—which is available to the senators—stresses that, during all that time and spending, we didn't develop just one type of atom bomb, as is sometimes supposed.

Actually, the report shows that we made bombs of both uranium 235 and plutonium, produced them by four entirely different methods, and even discarded a fifth proven method at the end merely because it was somewhat less efficient than the other four.

Thus, with the research shortcuts already publicly indicated, no one—be he soldier, scientist or statesman—can safely say just how soon or how cheaply another nation may be able to duplicate our atom bomb with one equally destructive.

The extent to which atomic suspicions have spread from the senate hearings and saturated the entire capital city is demonstrated in another behind-the-scenes development—a move to shake up the entire state department, if necessary, in order to substitute a new, streamlined atomic concept of foreign relations for some of the old traditional diplomatic tricks.

For once, both many professional soldiers and many scientists are in agreement over the necessity for such a revised foreign relations frame of mind—at least until some international control is placed over the atom bomb.

Stressing that surprise would mean everything in another war, they point out that the diplomatic prelude to an atomic conflict would be absolutely unprecedented in history.

In short, their suggested foreign relations policy is this: Until the atom bomb is safely harnessed by World control, watch friendly foreign powers even more closely than unfriendly ones.

Promises Rise to Disturb Republicans.

WASHINGTON — Republicans are groping about in a fog of confusion and disillusion over two major problems, budget and taxes, with friction among leaders and mild revolts from rank and file and continually conflicting statements about party policy and intention.

This is understandable and no cause for alarm. It takes some time to readjust from the campaign blueprint, glibly parroted from so many stumps, to the reality.

Or, to be specific, from easy promises, such as a flat 20 per cent personal income-tax cut and the slashing of a million or two million employes from the government payroll—the figure depending upon how good the speaker felt that particular day—to practical realization.

Party leaders have run up hard against two realities: one is politics and the other the changes that have come over our economy since the GOP was last in power. The two are involved. A cut-back will show three things, among others, that have happened which enter into calculations as Republicans start their job:

1. People generally have come to expect more of their government because they have got more from it. This not only includes the masses in the lower-income groups but some further up the scale, such as businessmen and farmers, who enjoy a number of government services.

2. To pay for these, the country has become adjusted—even though many don't like it—to the use of the income tax to reach up into the higher brackets, personal and corporate, and get the money to spread in services of various sorts.

3. The depression which, among other things, taught us that there's got to be a continual reservoir of purchasing power among the great bulk of our people to buy the goods they produce.

What the Republican party needs most today, and some of its leaders are coming to see it, is a philosophy. That is, they must first decide just what kind of government they intend to give the people, how much of what they have had.

The role of critics was simple for the last 14 years in opposing government spending and new government functions. But now the critics see how intricately these functions have become woven into the life of the people and of the country.

They have come to see just how wide was the scope of various New Deal reforms that gave the mill-worker and the farmer better incomes, gave him more of the other aids of modern civilization, such as cheaper electricity through great public power projects; new and more fertile land through development of our rivers and irrigation; nice homes where once there were slums, and so on.

We expanded internally as a nation. It cost money—taxpayers' money. But we got dividends in a richer and better country.

To fulfill some of the wilder promises, the Republicans would have to go back quite a way, and that's where the conflict rises.

It must decide just what services it wants to give the people and work from there. Undoubtedly it can reduce appropriations for some of them, and reduce the number of employes. But that can't be done merely by picking a number out of a hat and saying that is the amount of the budget. It will take long and careful study, as some are now coming to realize.

Inequity of Wage Boosts Affects Majority.

WASHINGTON — The negotiations that begin this week between the United States Steel corporation and the CIO United Steel Workers will be followed with the keenest interest by industry and labor all over the country. What happens in "Big Steel" is likely to set the pattern in wages for the nation.

President Truman's economic advisers are well aware of how much turns on the outcome. They will follow the negotiations with bated breath and with fingers crossed.

The beginning is hopeful. Both sides have agreed to continue existing conditions until April 30, which removes the possibility of a strike until after that date. But it is felt here that a substantial wage increase, such as the CIO was talking about six weeks ago, can be as disastrous as a strike.

Robert Nathan made no converts in government when he presented his elaborately prepared argument that industry could afford to give a 25 per cent wage increase out of profits at this time.

Even the liberals who have survived in the Truman administration feel that Nathan's 25 per cent thesis was a disservice to labor. Chairman of the federal reserve board Marriner Eccles, who in the past has frequently supported organized labor on the need to sustain purchasing power, feels so strongly on the price issue that he is contemplating a speech in which he will air his views.

In a recent public statement, Eccles said that in his opinion the danger of inflation was over. But Eccles and those who think like him believe that a further distortion of the wage picture can do very great harm at this point.

On the one hand are the 14,000,000 workers who belong to trade unions. Since VJ-day they have put their wage level on a tion to force pay increases that have puttheir wage level on a peak far above the level of the 44,000,000 wage earners who are not organized.

Prices have moved up correspondingly, or even faster than wages. This makes for a tremendous distortion in our economic life. The cost of an automobile, for example, has gone up 50 to 75 per cent over what it cost in 1941.

But the pay of a school teacher has moved up minutely or not at all, which means that the school teacher has no chance to buy a car that costs $1300 today instead of the $800 it cost in 1941. Millions of consumers have been priced out of the market.

Theoretically this distortion could be cured if the wages of the 44,000,000 unorganized workers could be moved up to the level of the 14,000,000 in trade unions. That would have to occur while the union wage scale was held nearly stationary.

Obviously such a maneuver is impossible. Even if by some magic the wages of the unorganized mass could be raised, the union scale could not at the same time be kept immobile.

Therefore the only way to correct the tremendous disparity is to get prices down. Even a small wage increase would increase the distortion, according to Eccles and others in government who think like him.

As Nathan showed in his report, many corporations are making profits greater than ever before. United States Steel made no effort in its annual report to conceal the fact of phenomenal profits in the last two quarters of 1946.

Those of the Eccles school say that, while this means that some industries could pay higher wages, it also means that these same industries could lower prices.

By an announcement of lower prices, "Big Steel" could send a wholesome current moving through all industry. It would inevitably be felt in the farthest reaches of the economy. And it might solve the problem of those who sit around the wage-conference table.

Farmer's Diary: "No Place for Fear."

"TIME WAS," Uncle Malachi used to say, when some office seeker came asking for his vote,—"that is, I've heard in the days of white wigs and knee breeches and cocked hats that they sent the wisest men the country had to the legislature!"

And then with a twinkle that only re-enforced the earnestness of his tale, he would tell about the Dark Day of May, 1780, when most everyone thought the end of the world had come; and about Abe Davenport, who had represented Malachi's father's own district in the Connecticut capitol.

"It was past the middle of May, and as beautiful as May can be," the old man said. "Orchards were in bloom and birds were nesting. It was garden working time. But around noon that day, it got dark. The sky was hidden by deep black clouds with a fiery dull glow showing at the edges. The chickens went to roost. The cows came up to the barn. Bats flew about, as they do at evening.

"Of course people were frightened. Women cried and gathered their children close around them, praying. Even strong men were pale and thoughtful, looking to see the clouds part at any minute and the figure of the Christ appear ready to judge the world.

"At the state house, where the legislature was in session, the lawmakers were as scared as anybody else. Several said, timidly 'Let's adjourn. This is the Lord's Own Day.' But while they hesitated, big Colonel Abe stood up, in that calm, slow, certain way he had, and began to speak, in a deep steady voice.

"This may well be the Day of Judgment," Abe said. "But as for me I only know my present duty—and the Lord's command to abide here until He come. It's by His kind Providence I'm here with this job to do—and here He'll find me, ready, if the Lord of the Harvest calls. So, with all reverence, I would say, 'Let God do his work, and we'll attend to ours. Will someone bring the candles in?'

"Then for an hour, by the flickering candlelight, they went ahead—to make a law about shad and alewife fisheries. Abe spoke again, without notes, but right to the point, and his awestricken colleagues listened for Gabriel's trump to interrupt him. But Gabriel didn't." . . . Uncle Malachi would end on a chuckle.

The story is authentic history. Years later, John Greenleaf Whittier, who was one of Uncle's contemporaries—and a Quaker, too—put it into verse, ending beautifully like this:

"And there he stands, in memory, to this day,
Erect, self-poised, a rugged face half seen
Against the background of unnatural dark.
A witness to the ages as they pass,
That simple duty hath no place for fear."

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

ADMIRAL BYRD reaching his old camp in Little America reports finding the buildings vacant. . . . Three covered wagons are leaving New York tomorrow.

* * *

The housing shortage is so serious that the wife who goes home to mother now phones first to see if mother has a home.

* * *

One question seldom propounded is, "Where were all the people living in 1942 who have no place to live in 1947?" Our guest experts are Cupid and the stork who know most of the right answers to the riddle.

* * *

When a man puts two dollars in a marriage license he also is buying a piece of the housing shortage and many a license has been issued since '42.

* * *

Nor has the stork stopped to estimate the cubic footage available in one room and bath. And while Cupid and the stork go placidly about their affairs everybody blames "the politicians" for the housing shortage.

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

When Films Were Really Fun—Sometimes I think my favorite authors are not Shakespeare, Hemingway and Maugham, but Roberta Courtland, Frederick James Smith and Peter Schmid.

You never heard of them?

Well, you haven't lived. They are three of the most lush authors ever to put adjective to paper. They wrote for the fan magazines when the movies (and possibly they themselves) were very young, and their prose makes today's film book fare seem pretty cold and dull.

For instance, in the days of the silent flickers a moviegoer really knew what went on inside Theda Bara. Way down deep inside. All because Roberta Courtland, in an article titled "Theda, Misunderstood Vampire," explained:

"It started way back in her girlhood. Because her eyes were so big and black and strange looking, and because of the weird fancies that possessed her, Theda Bara's schoolgirl companions were afraid of her. When other girls chummed together making fudge, Theda was left out." (Editor's Note: Gad! To be left out of the fudge-making!)

"We were seated in the living room of Miss Bara's apartment. "'Oh, why do people hate me so?' she cried. 'Why don't they realize my wickedness is merely to show that, in no matter what guise it may come, sin is always horrible and always brings its own penalty? Just because on the screen I am forced to win men from their wives, wreck lives, torture good women and drive men frantic, they think my life off the screen must be the same.

"'I want people to like me . . . I want to play a woman in real life, not the incarnated spirit of wickedness and sin.'"

"Theda Bara has tried to make good as a vampire, a werewolf, a she-devil feasting on the souls of men. But the vampire is a witch symbol. Theda Bara can and will rise above it!"

* * *

In 1920, Frederick James Smith tore off a piece called "The Baby Faced Lady." Gaze.

"If reincarnation be a truth, then we can well imagine Louise Huff as a fair royalist in the cavalier days of Merry England, as a Huguenot maid of the bloody years of the deMedici in Paris or a quaint little Evangeline of old Arcadia. For she is demure, with a touch of the devil-may-care twinkling in her eyes—a bon-bon bit of femininity. Miss Huff believes in reincarnation.

"'I need my reincarnation theory to sustain me,' she confesses. 'Without this belief, I could not face the every-day things. Where would I obtain poise, resistance, new hopes?'

"A very human little person is Miss Huff with a very evenly balanced view of life."

* * *

In 1916, Dustin Farnum was disposed of by Peter Schmid in an article called: "The Big Boy of the Open Country." It came right out and said:

"To know him is to love him! That's Dustin Farnum, red-blooded hero of 'The Gentleman From Indiana,' 'Call of the Cumberlands' and 'Captain Courtesy.'

"'Dusty' is in real life a great big clean-cut boy with a quiet smile and firm handclasp. A student of nature and a lover of animals, with a heart in keeping with his massive frame. Apart from his motorboat, and his prize pig, he has a companion that is the apple of his eye. His pal of pals, his constant associate in work and play—'Monty,' his beautiful white horse of almost human intelligence!"

Monty, meet Miss Huff.

Free Shingles Turn Out to Be Expensive

CANTON — (AP) — An investigation was started today by Prosecutor D. Deane McLaughlin into complaints of 69 home-owners that they were defrauded of $75,000 in a "free advertising" venture by a shingle firm.

The owners told the Stark county grand jury yesterday that salesmen for the company offered to shingle their houses "free as an advertisement" of the firm in the neighborhood.

Charging that they now owe promissory notes ranging up to $1,400 each, the owners, most of them war veterans, told the grand jury:

The salesmen told prospects they would receive $25 "commissions" for each house in the neighborhood which was shingled after their initial shingling job was completed.

The prospects signed promissory notes after the salesmen said: "All you have to do is take the $25 checks we send you and go down and pay on the notes."

Within a few hours after the owners signed notes, trucks loaded with shingles and workers pulled up and completed the jobs.

The notes were sold to a credit agency, the shingle firm vanished from Stark county — and the aroused property owners are still waiting for the first $25 check.

Mother, This Home-Mixed Cough Relief Is Wonderful

Saves Real Money. No Cooking. Quick Results.

To get the most surprising relief from coughs due to colds, you can easily prepare a medicine, right in your own kitchen. It's very easy—needs no cooking, and tastes so good that children take it willingly. But you'll say it's hard to beat for results.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, and pour it into a pint bottle. Fill up with your syrup. This gives you a full pint of really splendid cough syrup—about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and lasts a long time.

And for real, quick relief, it's very effective. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for quick action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way. —Adv.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Lem's Dogs vs Thad's Chickens

Running a newspaper, you get to know a lot about human nature.

Thad Phipps was in the other day, all burned up. Wanted me to run an item on how Lem Martin's dog had raided his chickens again, and ought to be put away by law.

I told him: "Lem was in on Saturday. Said you shouldn't be allowed to keep those chickens so close to his house—and in a residential zone, at that."

Thad shuts up right pronto then. And that very evening I see him making his peace with Lem at Andy Botkin's Garden Tavern—over a friendly glass of beer.

From where I sit, anyone can find something in his neighbor to complain about. (Some folks may even disagree with Thad's right to enjoy that glass of beer with Lem!) But where would we be if everybody tried to have a law passed against everything they disagreed with? We wouldn't have many neighbors left!

SPY SUSPECT WILL TESTIFY

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Gerhardt Eisler, accused by an ex-Communist leader as Russia's No. 1 spy in the United States, will be brought to Washington today from his New York jail cell to testify before the house committee on un-American activities.

Rep. Thomas (R., N. J.) said he requested Attorney General Clark last Friday to place a 24-hour watch over Eisler who was arrested Tuesday at his Queens home on a warrant charging violation of the enemy alien act.

Justice department sources said that Eisler's arrest will require a hearing by the enemy alien board which may clear, parole or intern the Russian.

In a letter to Clark, Thomas said that the congressional hearing opening tomorrow "will be of extreme importance and it is necessary that Eisler be prohibited from department from the United States, or disappearing, or refusing to testify."

Mansfielders' Deposits Rise But Total Drops

Mansfielders have more money in bank—about $5,134,000—than they had on deposit a year ago

But total deposits in Mansfield's four banks and three savings and loan companies have fallen off. This is due to government withdrawal of funds deposited in the banks during the war.

Government withdrawals totaled $6,916 000 The amount was used to retire the national debt.

Because the government withdrew more money than Mansfielders deposited, total deposits have dropped in the amount of $1,782,000.

On Jan. 1 total deposits amounted to approximately $64 294,000 whereas on Jan. 1, 1946 the grand total was $66,075,000.

Rail Car Shortage Jams Truck Lines

FIRMS TAXED TO CAPACITY OF FACILITIES

Chamber Reports Trains Carry Hundreds of Empty Boxcars West Through City.

The acute shortage of railroad boxcars in Mansfield has reflected itself in an unprecedented demand for greater use of trucking facilities.

But most trucking companies in Mansfield have more business than they can handle.

John G. Routzon, secretary-treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce, said yesterday that the industries of Mansfield called on the trucking companies for help during the current boxcar shortage.

He said, "the trucking companies have come to the rescue 100 per cent, putting all available equipment to use."

At the same time Routzon reported contacting the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, which, he said, "is getting on the boxcar matter from a state angle."

* * *

Ask Trains To Stop.

The state chamber, he said, has been in touch with state legislators, Ohio's senators and representatives in Congress, and with railroad officials.

He added that the government has been requested to have trains with empty boxcars going through Mansfield to the west stop here.

"Hundreds of empty freight cars are going through Mansfield daily," Routzon said. "These cars could be filled with Mansfield-made merchandise for shipment west."

He added that Mansfield is a "a consumer goods manufacturing city. These are bulky goods and must be moved daily."

* * *

Up To Necks in Shipments.

Trucking companies are up to their necks in shipments, a survey revealed.

H. L. Morehead, a dispatcher for Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati Highway, Inc., said business had increased in recent weeks.

"We're getting more stoves," he said, "and we're getting merchandise from other points that used to come by boxcar."

The Norwalk Truck Line reported "an increase in volume since the war." Tom Dorsey, manager, described the situation there as "jammed." He said he had five loads waiting to be put on trucks that he "wouldn't be able to touch today."

* * *

All It Can Handle.

A spokesman for the All States Freight, Inc., said the firm "had all it could handle," but added "the situation was straightening out." Regarding equipment, he said "relief was in sight."

"Very, very bad," said R. L. Myers, manager of the Akron Chicago Transportation company, and added the volume of business had increased. "We get on the average three trucks a day. We could use five or six."

A spokesman for Motor Cargo, Inc., said, "the entire last six months has been bad." He said the company did not have enough trucks to handle the increase.

* * *

Peak In Business.

"We can hardly move around here," said Rober Mohler, manager of the Commercial Motor Freight, Inc., "we're at a peak in business."

"Trucks are not available," he said, adding that the company has received only a very few new ones. He asserted that most of the company's trucks are three to five years old. He stated it takes about two weeks to replace equipment.

Mohler said he gets about 100 trucks daily, during a 24-hour period. "We're trying to spread our facilities around to help everybody," he said. Mohler added that at the moment he had "a backlog of one day's business."

L. C. Dearman, president of the Dearman Transportation Company, Inc., reported increases in volume, but said, "We're able to take care of it so far."

WHOOPING COUGH SHOWS INCREASE IN COUNTY, CITY

Health Commissioner Urges Inoculation of Infants.

Mansfield and Richland county children are whooping it up these days.

Dr. Fred O. Tonney, city-county health commissioner, reported today a sharp increase in the number of cases of whooping cough.

He pointed to the situation as pointed up the need for innoculation of more younger children.

In the city, recorded cases went from three in December to 13 in January. In the county, they increased from three to 16.

Dr. Tonney said children can be innoculated against whooping cough at the age of six months.

* * *

More Chicken Pox Too.

Chicken pox cases went from 36 to 103 in the city from December through January, health department reports show. In the county, they increased from 32 to 57.

Dr. Tonney said the disease is mild and that the increase is not "striking."

Although recorded scarlet fever cases dropped from six to five in the city, they increased from six to nine in the county during the two-month period.

* * *

Four Die of Pneumonia.

County diphtheria cases recorded totaled three in January. In December the number was four. In the city, however, where immunization of school children is compulsory, the January total was one and there were no cases in December.

Recorded pneumonia cases in the city totaled four with four deaths. In the county the total was two with one death.

In the county, syphillis jumped from four to nine; in the city it dropped from eight to five. Gonorrhea cases climbed from one to two in the county but dropped from four to two in the city.

MANSFIELDERS TAKE TO AIR—Three young women from the Mansfield area will soon be flying the transcontinental routes of the United Air Lines as stewardesses. Graduated last week from United's stewardess school in Chicago, the young women will be assigned to their routes soon. Pictured here, left to right, are: Miss Martha Marie McGuire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. McGuire of Shreve; Miss Pauline Gladys Auxter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Legion Urged To Sponsor Pedestrian Safety Program

A pedestrian safety program, with school boys urging Mansfielders to wait for the lights at downtown intersections, will have the "100 per cent backing of the city traffic department" if the American Legion will sponsor the project, Traffic Commissioner Frend Boals told members of McVey post, American Legion, last night.

Boals, addressing the Legionnaires briefly during a safety meeting, suggested that the Legion post sponsor the program as a part of its state-wide safety campaign.

The traffic commissioner said high school boys could be used in the educational program to ask pedestrians to follow safety rules during busy hours downtown.

Police officers would stand by to assist the boy patrols in the enforcement of regulations, Boals said.

Boals' remarks preceded a "Highway Safety Quiz," first in a series planned by the Legion in conjunction with the state highway patrol. In opening the quiz program Legion commander Dwight A. McCullough said, "Unless there is safer driving on the highways a stiffer driving test may be the result."

With Former Judge C. H. Huston as "judge" and James Brownscombe as quizmaster, questions were asked of the audience concerning Ohio traffic laws. Present to answer questions were Lt. George C. Unkle of the state highway patrol and several patrolmen.

The Legion voted to turn its band uniforms over to the Liberty park bandsmen since the Legion no longer will attempt to sponsor a band.

The Legion also approved tentative plans for a Veterans Homecoming celebration and Fourth of July Fireworks show as planned by the Joint Veterans Commission of Richland County in conjunction with the county's veterans' organizations.

LIQUOR SWINDLE HEARING SET

A hearing will be held Feb. 13 for two New Yorkers accused of grand larceny by two Mansfield night club operators in connection with an alleged $25,500 deal last summer for 300 cases of Scotch whisky, the Associated Press reported today.

John Hergatt and John Miller, who operate the Ringside night club, yesterday identified James Scardino, 32, and Alfred Raimondi, 43, as the men they said they gave a paper sack containing $25,500 last June 20 at a bar here. The Mansfield men said the New Yorkers disappeared after promising to return with bills of sale.

Magistrate Samuel Orr, at an arraignment in felony court yesterday, held Scardino in $25,000 bail and Raimondi without bail for the hearings next week. A third man, who, police said, divided the $25,500 with Scardino and Raimondi, was sought on a rant named him as Ralph Genorant named him as Rlph Genovese, 50, of Portland, Me.

Hergatt also operates the Sunset club near Mt. Vernon and Miller is proprietor of the "Gyp" Miller cafe on Orange street.

Student in Ashland Wins Scholarship

ASHLAND — Lee Hartman, a senior at Ashland high school, has been awarded the Guy C. Bowman Stanford university scholarship given every four years to a graduate of Ashland high school on the basis of character and high scholastic standing. This will enable him to attend Stanford for four years, receiving $400 on tuition.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hartman, of R. F. D. 3, Ashland, Lee is president of the National Honor Society, a member of the senior choir and has had perfect attendance since the seventh grade. He plans to study medicine.

TRAFFIC ARRESTS SHOW BIG GAIN

Forty-six motorists were fined for "crashing" red lights and stop signs last month, police records showed today. This is nearly three times the number fined on similar charges in December.

The figures back up warnings issued by the traffic department at the year's start that traffic signal and stop sign violators would be the major target in the 1947 accident prevention drive.

The police report for January shows that of the 65 motorists arrested on various traffic charges, 38 were booked on speeding charges. Traffic arrests in December totaled 34.

Fines and costs for traffic violations in January totaled $1,346 as compared with $1,188 for all other charges, the report shows. A total of 135 persons were arrested in January compared to 152 in December.

COUNTY FARMERS TO HEAR REPORTS

The Richland county general marketing committee will meet at 11:30 a. m., Friday in the Central Methodist church to hear reports on the first study ever made by farmers on farm produce marketing conditions in the Mansfield area.

Sub-committees on dairy, livestock and poultry markets will give the reports. The groups began the study of marketing problems several months ago.

In addition, area farmers will hear two marketing specialists from Ohio State university. They are C. F. Christian and C. W. Hammans.

A luncheon will be served at the church, and farmers are urged to bring their wives, George B. Ganyard, county agent, said.

FARM TRAINING SCHOOL SLATED

A meeting to organize the first on-the-job veterans agriculture training class in Richland county was scheduled to convene at 8 p. m. tomorrow at the Shiloh high school, Boyd Robinson, county superintendent of schools, reported today.

Letters have gone out to 33 applicants. But a number of those who months ago indicated their interest in the class may have dropped out by this date, he said.

The state department of education has set a minimum requirement of 22 students and 25 students is considered to be about all one teacher can handle.

Vets from all areas of the county are eligible to enter the class, Robinson said.

Byron Bricker, farm labor specialist at the Ohio State Employment service office, has been selected as teacher. Bricker has had six and one-half years experience teaching vocational agriculture subjects.

STATION UNPROFITABLE

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The Nickel Plate Railroad appealed to the State Public Utilities commission Wednesday for permission to abandon its station at Goodwin, Paulding county. The railroad claimed that maintenance of the station was costing them $150 a year deficit.

MORE TRAINING COURSES OPEN

New night classes for apprentice bricklayers and plumbers will be offered by the Veterans' Administration at Senior high school if enough persons apply for entrance.

V. H. Oberlander, director of vocational education for Mansfield schools, said he has received approval for the new courses from the Ohio Department of Vocational education.

At the same time, he said two courses now being taught have proved highly successful.

The course for apprentice carpenters has 22 students. The one for apprentice machinists, 24.

A course for apprentice electricians was discontinued this week, he said. Reason was lack of enrollment, only five students reporting for the last class.

He added that the class would be started again if enough persons apply.

The courses are offered under the Veterans' Administration "related training for apprentices" program. Both veterans and non-veterans my enroll.

TAX PAYMENTS LAG IN COUNTY

Payments of the first-half 1946 real estate tax collections were lagging today. Collections trailed the total at the corresponding time last year by $30,752, Charles C. Payne, county treasurer reported.

Payne expressed belief the severe cold weather may have been responsible. He urged property owners, for their own convenience, to make payments as early as possible.

Deadline for payment is Feb. 20.

Total amount listed on the treasurer's books to be collected is $916,950. Of this amount, $60,422 is delinquent taxes.

Collections to date total $347,617 as compared with $378,369 at this time last year.

VFW TO INCORPORATE HOME BUILDING FIRM

Attorney C. J. Kalbfleisch has been engaged by the Alfred I. Harrington Post No. 3494, Veterans of Foreign Wars, to apply to the Secretary of State for a charter for a post Homebuilding corporation, a VFW official revealed today.

The purpose of the corporation will be to acquire or build a suitable post home for the Mansfield VFW. The post will receive from Mansfield property owners offers of sites for a suitable VFW post home.

The Mansfield VFW will be represented by at least 10 members at the VFW State Conference in Canton Saturday and Sunday. The local chapter will present matters concerning conservation and post-war railway fares.

The Mansfield VFW post feels that the interruption of half-travel rail fares for military personnel has created an unjust situation. While many preferential freight rates are still in effect, the soldier now has to pay full fare.

Organized Reserve Seeks Space Here

Army Organized Reserve Corps units will be established in Mansfield provided facilities are available. Capt. Frank M. Merigold, from the Cleveland office, Officer's Reserve Corps, was in Mansfield today looking for about 1500 feet of floor space. He may be contacted at the Mansfield Army Recruiting station, second floor, post office building, phone 1751-6.

Chamber Gives Members First Call on Tickets

Demand for tickets for Mansfield's biggest dinner party—the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and the Manufacturer's club, Friday, Feb. 14, at the Coliseum—has been so brisk that committeemen today adopted a definite schedule for the sale of more than 1,000 tickets.

C. L. VanDerau, general chairman, urged Chamber members and Manufacturer's club members to obtain tickets for themselves, their wives and guests before Monday.

He explained that members of the two organizations naturally have first preference on tickets, but that committeemen desire also to accommodate as many non-members as possible. Non-member tickets will be sold Monday and Tuesday.

Tickets may be obtained by calling at, or phoning, the C. of C. at 1368-6 by contacting P. M. Eliot and William Solomon, ticket committee co-chairman, or they may be purchased at any of Mansfield's banks or at the Tawse Pharmacy in the Mansfield Leland hotel building.

Senior High Pupils Hear 'Rigoletto'

Senior high school students at an assembly yesterday witnessed a scene from the opera, "Rigoletto." Piero Tierotic, baritone and former member of the Vienna State opera, as Rigoletto, presented the scene in which Rigoletto goes to the courtyard in search of his daughter.

Music was provided by Hugo Brant, piano accompanist who travels with Tierotic to high schools for presentation of concerts.

Tierotic proved his versatility by singing popular songs in addition to classical ones. Among them were "To Each His Own," "Night and Day," and "Begin the Beguine."

DIMES CAMPAIGN AT HALFWAY MARK

Richland County March of Dimes neared the half way-mark of the $6,000 campaign goal today, Marshall Moore, campaign secretary reported. Contributions totaling $2,581.36 and collections from the Ritz theater, totaling another $379.29, will raise the total to $2,960.65.

The drive which, was officially closed on Jan. 30, has been extended by local officials to Saturday in an effort to reach the county goal.

Contributions should be addressed to the Richland chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Marshall C. Moore, secretary, room 703, Richland Trust building.

Issued Permit For Four Houses

Permits for the construction of four homes were issued yesterday to Laser and Walker, contractors, 214 East Fourth street.

Two $11,000, six-room, brick veneer homes are to be built, at 448 West Sixth street, and 201 Walter avenue.

Two $9,000, five-room, frame homes will be built at 287 Wood street and 258 Richland avenue.

Up and Down The Street

NEW KIND OF COURT—

Former Judge C. H. Huston held "special court" last night at the American Legion home. On trial were more than 100 Legionnaires and guests. Charges were in the form of a quiz on Ohio driving rules. James Brownscombe served as the "prosecuting" quizmaster. "Judge" Huston imposed fines ranging as high as 10 cents, which were donated to the March of Dimes fund. The defendants in general showed they were familiar with the rules of the road with the result that compliments were extended by "Judge" Huston. "Prosecutor" Brownscombe, Traffic Commissioner Frend Boals and Lt. George Unkle of the state highway patrol who attended as guests. The "Safety Quiz" opened a campaign for safe driving to be co-sponsored by the state highway patrol, American Legion and the city.

WANTS PEN PAL—

Leo J. Bamber, 16, of London, England, wants a pen pal in Mansfield. He has written a letter to the News-Journal editor asking help in finding a correspondent. If there's a Mansfield boy of corresponding years who is interested in writing to Leo, here's information on the English lad. He's five feet, nine inches tall, has blue-gray eyes and dark hair. He doesn't say in his letter what he's interested in, so that would be something to find out in his first letter. Here's his address: 88 Hendon Way, Hendon NW 2, London, England.

WELCOME ZERO WEATHER—

Zero weather that had Mansfielders shivering and pulling their coat collars a little higher brought smiles of satisfaction to a few of the more hardy residents of the city. Happy to see the cold weather and hoping it will last are the ice boat enthusiasts. A prolonged period of cold weather will thicken the ice on Mifflin lake and make their favorite winter sport safer. If the cold weather lasts until this week-end a number of swift running ice boats will be seen on the lake.

FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

Inquisitive Fellows

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Congress is investigating everything from a (for accidents, air) to Z (for zinc, shortages of). It is wearing its double-billed hawkshaw cap, smoking its calabash pipe, peering through its magnifying glass and in general acting like Sherlock Holmes.

It's even investigating itself.

Not in memory of the oldest member have there been so many congressional investigations in progress, or scheduled almost immediately to begin. How red is the little red school house? What's happened to all the freight cars? Why don't those Russians catch their own fish? How's the whale situation?

These questions and a hundred more are in the process of being answered. So many hearings are in progress that the major domos are running out of hearing rooms. Subpenas are being written, detectives are poking into odd places, and federal big-wigs are beginning to dread the tinkle of the doorbell; it nearly always means a bailiff with a congressional summons.

* * *

TWENTY TOP officials of the interior department the other day raced from one interrogation to another on Capitol Hill; one told me the department might as well have locked its doors for the day.

Several members of the house merchant marine and fisheries committee are going to Panama on Easter to investigate the Panama Canal. Others are planning on investigating fish in Alaska.

The state department's being investigated. So are the cafeterias that feed 221,000 federal clerks. Sen. Owen Brewster of Maine is looking for bonfires of government records. Somebody else is investigating Henry Morgenthau's 900-volume diary.

Six different subcommittees of the house appropriations committee are investigating ways to fire federal workers; the senate's about to take up the same subject.

"And the war assets administration must be investigated thoroughly," announced Rep. George H. Bender of Ohio. "These people are sitting on their war assets and doing nothing."

The lawmakers are investigating the 292 ships still lend-lease to Great Britain, scanning the U. S. manual to see what's left out of this publication on purpose, probing plans to build experimental submarines, scanning the radio business, sifting the atomic energy commission, and getting ready to see whether any Communists are making movies in Hollywood.

* * *

LABOR'S BEING investigated on both sides of the capitol. So are sugar and rents and how-come - the - OPA - still - has - 13,000-workers?

About to be investigated is the question of whether a resident of the District of Columbia holds his liquor better standing up or sitting down. I am not fooling. Also to be inquired into is the ethics of killing the starlings (which are birds) infesting Pennsylvania avenue's Grecian porticoes.

A war-time Central American highway, investigated last year, is to be investigated again. So too, apparently, is the Pearl Harbor debacle. The maritime commission is about to get the inquisitorial works.

Investigation into failure of the private bank of the house of representatives continues.

Detectives stay away from my door; I'm too busy to talk to you. I'm investigating the investigators.

WESTBROOK PEGLER

Pross Has a Party

BENJAMIN F. PROSS amounts to nothing in the underworld labor racket beyond an area which extends from the City of New York, his center of operations, into New Jersey, Westchester and hither Pennsylvania and Connecticut. As to the rest of the country, he is important merely as a personification of the rottenness which the American Federation of Labor has encouraged in violation of every decent theory and principle of unionism. His equals in viciousness and effrontery exist elsewhere, of course, but never have I encountered his like. He is unique.

The gall of this inveterate crook, in exposing himself to attention by posing as an honorable "success" who "made it the hard way," is as fascinating as any other phase of his revolting character.

The Beverage Times, a trade journal of the liquor industry, presents an example of this in its issue of Jan. 27.

* * *

THE HEAD on the story says "Univ. Settlement and Runyon Fund Benefit From Benj. F. Pross Dinner."

The reason for the interest of the Beverage Times is that this rogue is the executive business manager of Local I of the Wine, Liquor and Distillery Workers' union and of the Wholesale Wine Salesmen's union, Local 18. He has the power to call strikes at will against distillers, wholesalers and retailers of all kinds of alcoholic beverages in his great jurisdiction, and in his trial in the federal court at Newark it was shown that he used this union power to compel Schenley to allot 10,500 over-quota cases of whisky which later were sold to American soldiers in the black market in the south.

Another official of Local 1 testified that the union constitution gave Pross no right to impose such conditions on Schenley as the price of peace with the union and that Pross never did report these terms of settlement to Local 1. It was a private deal: the whisky was sent directly into the black market. The soldiers were robbed by racketeers. The union members got nothing out of it. Pross was acquitted and, after a lapse of time, bought a beautiful estate on the shore of Lake Mahopac, New York.

* * *

THE STORY in the Beverage Times carries a picture of Pross and begins: "Both the University Settlement and the Damon Runyon Memorial Fund were the beneficiaries of a testimonial dinner tendered to Benjamin F. Pross, on Jan. 20, the Times learned last week. Pross was honored because of his 'sincere and tireless efforts in bringing about improved economic conditions among the wholesale wine salesmen.' The affair was attended by rank and file members, industry leaders and other distinguished guests."

I would point out that, as Rum Dum Joe Fay, of the Operating Engineers, often demonstrated in his bloody social career, rank and filers and "industry leaders" are well advised to buy tickets and give personal attendance to pay tribute to thieving criminals who control A. F. of L. unions. If they don't, and particularly if they don't buy enough tickets, the rank and filers may be laid off or even laid up with broken legs, and the "industry leaders" may have to contend with picket lines of angry wretches of starvation who have no voice in the calling of strikes but have to picket on orders from such as Pross and Fay.

I specifically do not undertake to say that such considerations were persuasive here, but only that this is common practice in such unions as Pross' and Fay's.

WALTER WINCHELL

Marshall Sets Policy

THE VERY FIRST and strong indication of Gen'l Marshall's policy as Sec'y of State was his initial appointment—that of young Jack Peurifoy as acting Ass't Sec'y of State for Administration. . . . Young Peurifoy, who made many new friends for Uncle Sam during the Security Conference in San Francisco, is a liberal, a great believer in civil liberties and was special assistant to Under Sec'y Dean Acheson, himself a liberal, who studied under Justice Brandeis.

The new Sec'y of State has also turned over to Acheson far more power and authority than Acheson ever had under Byrnes. . . . This is Marshall's answer to those who said he would be a militarist and reactionary.

* * *

The publicity staff of the State Dep't is having a "tough life" under Marshall. . . . Take Mike McDermott, for instance. . . . This fatherly, white-haired publicity man has served under Hull, Stettinius and Byrnes. . . . He had to be up at five in the yawning the other day to hand out Marshall's announcement of the withdrawal of our troops in China. . . . Poor Mike.

* * *

Here is a little item from the hearings before the Senate Atomic Energy Committee on the confirmation of David Lilienthal as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. . . . Sen. Hickenlooper advised Lilienthal that his long time enemy, Sen. McKellar of Tenn., wanted a chance to question him. (McKellar and Lilienthal had been at war ever since the Senate allegedly demanded some patronage out of TVA and Lilienthal snapped his fingers in the Senator's face). . . . Lilienthal told Sen. Hickenlooper in his deepest tones: "I will be very happy. . . . To which Sen. Vandenberg grinned and, in mock surprise, asked: "Did you say you would be happy?"

Hickenlooper, apparently unfamiliar with the feud, added: "I take it no formal introduction is necessary."

* * *

Ho-Hum Dep't: The column's campaign against offensive dialect stuff is getting the same results as drops of aqua on the head—slow but sure . . . Warner Bros. has decided not to exhibit the film, "Abie's Irish Rose," in the houses they govern "because the picture unwittingly conveys an offensive, sterotyped impression of Jews and Catholics" . . . At the Vanity Fair premiere Jan Murray's routines were greeted by "an unappreciative audience" to whom he alibi'd: "That Walter Winchell has ruined my whole act!"

* * *

Peter Van Steeden, jr., (son of the band leader), was shot at his Conn. farm Thursdayem . . . Local gals shudder when they discuss New York's most terrifying wolf—one of our famed naval war heroes! . . . A syndicated colyumist (his stuff runs in a local eve'g paper—non-Hearst) is losing his wife. She won't name his column as co-respondent, although that's the breaker-upper . . . We know one colyumer's wife who never squawked in over 20 years. But could she write two books! . . . Frank Costello will get back most of that "lost" $27,000, after all. Mr. Whiskers, it seems, learned he more than paid up that old tax claim. Costello tells pals the fight over that 27 Gs (left in a cab) has to date cost him over $20,000. He says he would have spent 100 Gs "just for the principle of the dambed thing!"

In Rain or Shine, It's Weather Elsewhere That Brings Worry to New Orleans' Folks

NEW ORLEANS —(AP)—About this time of year the people of Louisiana begin taking a deep interest in the weather up around Omaha and Minneapolis and Cincinnati. Bad weather up there now may mean ruin down this way next month.

When the Mississippi is too high, the lower tributaries such as the Red river in Louisiana and the Yazoo in Mississippi can't empty their burdens into the great stream. The water backs up in the smaller rivers, overflowing their banks and sometimes breaking their levees.

Flood control plans call for diverting water down the valley of the Atchafalaya rives, an ancient outlet of the Mississippi flowing through Louisiana to the gulf. In the case of a very large flood, the water would fill the Atchafalaya river itself, overflowing the land for miles around.

* * *

HUNDREDS OF HOMES would be evacuated and some washed away. Dozens of oil wells, many roads and rail lines, and thousands of acres of cropland would be inundated. Larger towns, though protected by ring levees, would be isolated until the water receded.

And New Orleans, while physically safe, would feel huge financial losses through any extensive damage to nearby areas.

Stephen Lichtblau, meteorologist in charge of the U. S. weather bureau office, can see floods coming a month in advance. It takes about that long for the crest to move down from the big tributaries.

Principal immediate cause of the worst lower Mississippi floods, he explains, is high water on the Ohio. Although it drains only about a third as much territory as the Missouri and upper Mississippi together, the Ohio carries more water than those streams combined and pours it out faster.

But the Ohio can't cause danger on the huge lower Mississippi unless some other tributaries are nigh also. The disastrous 1937 Ohio flood, for example, had little effect down here.

* * *

MANY PEOPLE believe a "hard winter" in the north with heavy snowfall, means high water on the Mississippi in the spring. But Lichtblau says melting snow alone has little effect on the bigger streams. It takes ten inches of snow to make an inch of water, and thawing usually is slow.

However, he points out, a heavy warm rain melts snow quickly, and the rain and snow together may cause dangerous conditions. For a bad flood on the big rivers there must be heavy rain over a wide area for a long time.

So Lichtblau scans the rainfall reports for the Ohio Valley in the late winter and early spring. The Missouri rise usually comes in June, after the Ohio has subsided.

Army engineers believe their present plans are adequate to handle a "super flood" of 3,000,000 cubic feet of water per second in the lower valley. Thus far the greatest recorded volume was 2,300,000 feet per second in 1945. That's enough to flood a square mile a foot deep in 12 seconds.

VALUE is measured by quality as well as by price.

Decision Upholds Use of Women Cab Drivers

COURT RULES IN FAVOR OF TAXI OWNER

Teen-Age Canton Youths Lose Appeal on First Degree Murder Convictions.

COLUMBUS —(UNS)— The employment of "cabettes"—women cab drivers—in Cleveland between the hours of 6 a. m., and 10 p. m., does not violate the Ohio code, the state supreme court ruled today.

Reversing the Eighth district appellate court and affirming the Cleveland municipal court, the high tribunal held that the statute under which William C. Conley, Cleveland manager of the Yellow Cab company, was arrested was ambiguous.

Applying the "well settled rule of construing a penal statute strictly against the state," the high court held that Conley was not guilty and ordered him dismissed.

The statute under which Conley was charged was the state law regulating the hours of employment of women.

In another case the high court upheld in effect the "freeze order" the state liquor department placed on the issuance of night club licenses, although it did not rule on the merits of the case.

The court refused a writ of mandamus to Nat Stein, who sought to have the department ordered to grant him a license on the basis that the quota of D-5 or night club permits in Cincinnati was not filled. Therefore, he charged, refusal to grant him a permit was an abuse of discretion.

In denying the writ, the supreme court held that mandamus was an extraordinary remedy which could not be substituted for appeal, and that Stein had an adequate remedy in appeal to the liquor board and then to the Hamilton county common pleas court.

Convictions Stand.

The court upheld the first degree murder convictions of Willie Lowder and Alfred Parks, teenage Canton high school pupils serving life terms for the holdup slaying of William Karam, Canton confectioner, on Oct. 14, 1945. A third accomplice, John Harvey Haley, lost his appeal to the high court recently.

The court also upheld three other criminal convictions by refusing to review. They were George Cohen, convicted in Cincinnati of grand larceny and housebreaking; Vincent J. Cilenti, found guilty in Cleveland of destruction of property, extortion and attempted extortion, and Thomas J. Harris, also of Cleveland, convicted of obtaining $1,450 under false pretenses from three women on contracts to build them new houses.

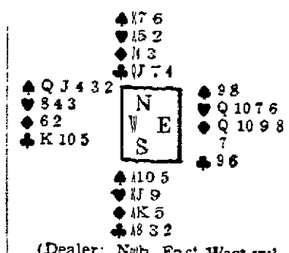
TAKES NEW POST

ZANESVILLE —(AP)—The Rev. Carl Scheufler of Cincinnati will become pastor of Grace Methodist church here March 1, Bishop H. Lester Smith announced yesterday.

Barclay On Bridge

Censuring your partner for what he did on a had is bad enough at any time. It's particularly damaging if your criticism is unsound and if the alternative action you recommend would have proved no more effective that what he actually did. That's about the worst thing that can be done to break up the morale of a partnership. Making a carefully considered suggestion, perhaps in the form of a mere question may help a partner to do a better job on some later hand. But one that may harm more than it helps. The best time to give a lesson to him is after the entire game is over.



(Dealer: Nuth. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 NT	Pass
3 NT

West led the spade 3, so the 10 got the first trick. Later South of course took two more spade tricks with the A and K, in addition to three hearts because the finesse worked, two diamonds and three clubs. That gave him a total of 11, which tied the pair with a bunch of others in the pair duplicate where this deal came up.

East censured West afterward for developing a trick for the declarer which he could not possibly have earned for himself except for West's lead. He tried to say that, if West had led the Q instead of his fourth-best 3, South would have taken only two tricks in spades.

Let's examine that from two standpoints. First of all, an honor is usually a bad lead against a No Trump game, even with two touchers like the Q and J, unless the leader also has a third card at least as high as the 9, which he did not have. Second, the lead of the Q would not have cut down South's tricks. The A could have won it, the 10 could have been led next for the K to kill West's J and drop the 9 at the same time, and the 7 would have given South a third trick in the suit.

So on all counts East was wrong. A heart lead would have prevented that eleventh trick for South. But who would select that lead?

Cuyahoga Relief Roll Increasing

CLEVELAND—(UNS)—Cuyahoga county relief records showed yesterday that relief rolls in the Cleveland area have nearly trebled since V-J day.

According to Frank G. Jones, city relief commissioner, the number of cases has jumped from 645 in August, 1945, to 1,767. Non-resident cases have increased 100 per cent during that time.

GANYARD DISAPPOINTED FATHER AS BOY OF 16, BUT LIFEWORK HAS FOLLOWED DAD'S PATTERN

George B. Ganyard, Richland county agricultural agent, was a disappointment to his father at the age of 16, because he refused to take a school teaching job. Under the laws of the time, Ganyard was fully qualified to teach. He was completing high school and he had passed the state teachers' examination.

"I refused the job," Ganyard says, "because I knew I was still too much of a kid."

The elder Ganyard had been a school teacher for 18 years before he turned to farming.

"His hobby was education and he served on a school board, either local or county, from my earliest memory of him until his death," his son recalls.

But young George Ganyard wanted to help run the family dairy farm in Medina county. He went to Ohio State University during the winter months of 1917-1918 to take a "short course" in agriculture. This convinced him that he needed to know still more, so the following year he enrolled for the four-year course.

* * *

AFTER GRADUATION from OSU, he returned to the family farm with a firm conviction that the only solution to the farmer's problems was for farmers to get together, making plans and threshing out their troubles as a group. He took a prompt interest in rural community affairs and served for three years as secretary and five years as president of the Farm Bureau.

"At that time," Ganyard explains, "the Farm Bureau was about the only organized agricultural group in my community. It took on the job of sponsoring extension of the Ohio State College of Agriculture. Later the Farm Bureau became a commercial organization, selling seed and so forth. It then became divorced from the extension service which is now entirely tax supported and works with all groups and individuals who will avail themselves of the service."

* * *

ABOUT THIS TIME there was a young lady teaching at the nearby Granger township centralized school which Ganyard had attended as a boy . . .

She had been at Ohio State at the same time Ganyard was there. In fact he used to "go with" a sorority sister of hers. Well, it wasn't long before he was going with the young lady herself! Three years later they were married.

They now live at 19 Hoffman avenue and have a daughter, Janice, who is a sophomore at Wooster college and a son, David, who is a junior at Mansfield Senior high school.

* * *

HIS MARRIAGE proved a deciding factor in Ganyard's career

GEORGE B. GANYARD . . . teaches better farming.

Ever since his graduation, the university had urged him to go into extension work. Repeatedly, Ganyard said "No." But in 1934 he had just finished the maple syrup season on the farm when a call came from Columbus asking him to help out for six weeks as a temporary agent for the Farm Credit association in northeastern Ohio. The agency was swamped with applications for loans.

Any farmer will tell you that in 1934 a little extra income was welcome. The Ganyard dairy farm had been particularly hard hit when the Cleveland milk market blew up in the midst of the depression.

* * *

GANYARD LEARNED then that it is unwise for any farmer to put all his eggs in one basket even if it appears as substantial as a dairyman's milk can.

He went to Louisville and trained for the Farm Credit job. At the end of the six weeks he became field agent for all of Ohio. Then in November he was informed the extension agent's post in Richland county was open. Ganyard took it and has been here ever since.

Ganyard attributes his decision to take the extension job to the fact that it would permit him to be with his family a little more On the Farm Credit job he had seen them only on weekends. A check of last year's reports reveals, however, that the agent still had to spend 98 evenings away from home on extension work in 1946!

* * *

THE COUNTY AGENT finds his job a continual challenge. There are no subsidies or laws which force farm groups or individuals to follow the advice of the extension service. Ganyard must each day find new ways of interesting people in better farming methods.

One of his best ways is the farm "balance sheet." This is based on actual tests made in areas of good land and poor land. These tests prove in dollars and cents that no matter whether the land is good or poor the farmer makes more money if he plants crops that build up the organic content of the soil.

"During the war," says Ganyard, "the emphasis was on raising food. Now we must prove to the farmer that the only way he can make money is to consider his soil resources as well as his markets."

* * *

BUT THERE IS another phase of Ganyard's work that he finds fascinating. He enjoys watching leadership develop among young 4-H club members.

Since his arrival in this county he has seen three former club members go into extension work. They are Robert Hammett, of Weller township, now associate agent in Mahoning county; Richard Howard, of Cass township, now associate agent in Summit county; and Sam Cashman, of Plymouth township, now agent in Wyandot county.

* * *

THE OTHER DAY the telephone rang in the agent's office. Ganyard quietly reeled off what sounded like and turned out to be a recipe for a field. It started off with six pounds of alfalfa.

He explained later. "This man wanted to convert a field to pasture. Last year we gave him instructions on what grasses to plant. Today he was asking about the legumes . . ."

That si a part of his routine duties. Off the job he is a Sunday school teacher at Central Methodist church and a member of the Optimist club and Marquis lodge F. and A. M.

At work or at leisure he sees his opportunity in life as a chance to help people live and work together a little more harmoniously. That, he feels, will eventually solve the problems not only of communities but of nations as well.

Ganyard's father would not be disappointed now. The son who insisted on returning to the farm has turned to the family tradition of education in spite of himself.

Soap Returns To Shelves of City Stores

Some soap is back on Mansfield grocers' shelves, but most dealers still aren't very optimistic about the outlook for the next few months, a survey revealed today.

Face soaps were reported as nearly impossible to obtain. One grocer, however, said he had all kinds of soap, adding "my soap worries are all over."

A dealer who described the situation as "fair," said he received 42 cases last week, which would meet the demand for a time. "The trouble is," he added, "I don't know when I'm going to get another shipment."

Soap powders were reported as more plentiful, with one dealer saying he had a good supply of washing powder, another stating he had just enough to meet the demand, and a third asserting he had plenty of soap powders.

But all of them said that face soaps were still scarce. A reason for this, one grocer said, is the fact that better oils are used in the manufacture of face soaps.

"Not too good," was the comment from another dealer who said he received a shipment every six months, but "not enough to meet requirements."

Another said he received five to 10 cases a month, which isn't enough to meet the demand.

President's Walking Ability Leaves News Reporters Limp

WASHINGTON — (AP)— Many White House correspondents fear President Truman will wear their legs off up to their knees.

They have given up accompanying the president on his morning walks about the capital. No reporter could do that and still have the zip needed later in the day for the exhausing requirements of the toughest newspaper job in the world—covering the White House.

BUT WHEN Truman leaves on one of his numerous trips about the country, they feel they have to stick with him night and day.

This is necessary because the president often pauses to chat with passersby—chance encounters that produce many good human interest stories.

Fit from a lifetime of exercise, Truman, who is crowding 63, returns to his desk refreshed and alert. The younger reporters, lame and limp, gulp coffee before beginning the long stationary hike they face at the typewriter.

ONE CORRESPONDENT I know says he enjoys covering every phase of the president's activities except his attendance at symphony concerts. A music fan of the Stephen Foster level—mine, too—he runs for fresh air when the first oboe whines into the upbeat.

"I wait outside," he said. Every reporter has his breaking point.

COURT FINES 6 MOTORISTS

Six persons were fined a total of $65 and costs yesterday in traffic court. Three were charged with speeding.

Harold E. Stull, Perrysville, was fined $15 and costs on an unsafe operation charge and his license was suspended for a month.

E. W. High, operator of the DeLuxe Cab company, was fined $10 and costs on a charge of permitting a cab to be operated with an inadequate governor.

Case of Phillip G. Renie, 53 Wolfe avenue, charged with failing to yield right-of-way, was continued to Feb. 19. He pleaded innocent. Preston Lindsay, 534 Lily street, was fined $5 and costs on a charge of permitting an illegal operator to operate a motor vehicle.

Fined $15 and costs on a speeding charge was John J. Weber, 119 North Walnut street. Fined $10 and costs each on speeding charges were Otto Smith, Crestline, and Mike Tormaschy, Mansfield, R. D. 2.

Moose Lodge's Blood Bank Aids Wreck Victims

The extent to which Mansfield Moose lodge assisted injured victims of the Pennsylvania train wreck near Coulter on Dec 13, 1946, was revealed today. Twenty-five persons listed in the lodge blood files were called upon in the emergency and rushed to the hospital to be on hand when transfusions were needed. Of these more than a dozen gave their blood.

Immediately after the accident was reported, members of the Mansfield Moose Blood Typing program set to work systematically to call blood donars to various hospitals Regardless of the blood type desired some one was ready to donate it.

The blood type program was set up by the lodge to provide blood without cost, when necessary to preserve life. Lodge members Ed Wyllie and Jacob Herf are in charge of completing the arrangements for those who still desire to be typed

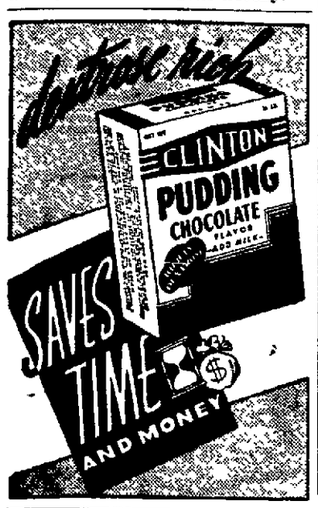
Book 'Treasure Chest' Goes On Display at City Library

A "Treasure Chest" to hold 30 books for children in countries where libraries were destroyed during the war is now on display at the Mansfield Public library.



Decorated by Miss Ann Murasko, 201 Western avenue, the chest has a non-chip enamel finish. It is decorated with a globe with three children pointing to three countries on it. On the cover is a rainbow, symbol of the Treasure Chests of America, sponsoring organization of the local drive for books. The remainder of the chest is decorated with highly-colored birds and trees.

Half of the books for the chest have been promised and are either on hand or on order, Miss Eva Leonard, children's librarian, said today. Fifteen more books are needed before the chest can be sent to the sponsoring organization in New York for overseas shipment. The chest was constructed of wood by the vocational classes at Senior high school.

Additional donors of books for the chest, reported by Miss Leonard, are: Room 211 at Johnny Appleseed junior high school; Mrs. L. J. Ott jr.; Mrs. B. W. Forkner; Troop 24, Girl Scouts, $3 for payment of chest construction and one book; Miss Hester Robinson; Miss Mary Ada White's third grade room at Western avenue school, and Mrs. Robert B. Black.

The BUSIEST BOX on your shelf

Little hands — big hands just can't resist reaching for Zesta Crackers when appetite demands satisfaction. The big red box is truly the busiest on the cupboard shelf. It is the cracker of distinctive flavor — so crisp, and thoroughly satisfying. No wonder Zestas are favorites with both children and adults. Always look for the name Zesta.

The Bib and Crib Set agrees on Beech-Nut!

No argument about liver when it's made into Beech-Nut Liver Soup. A tempting, smooth, satisfying soup, it retains in high degree the protein and iron which make liver one of the most nutritious of meats.

Another Beech-Nut high-chair success is squash. So smooth, so golden, so good . . . strained squash is often the first vegetable given a baby. Your grocer has both these fine foods and many other varieties of Beech-Nut Foods for Babies as well.

OHIO STATE COACH TAKES COLGATE GRID POST

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

CARDINAL Stan Musial will be the most under-paid big shot in pro baseball next season. . . . He's undoubtedly the standout player in the National league and will probably draw down only $25,000 while such American league names as Bob Feller, Ted Williams and Hal Newhouser make about three times as much. . . . And the transplanted slugger — Hank Greenberg—will probably take about $75,000 from the Pittsburgh Pirates. . . . Plenty more star players will top Musial's salary figure but look what the guy did last year. . . . He led the National in hitting, with .365; total bases, 366; slugging percentage,

:587; two-base hits, 50; three-base hits, 20, and cracked 16 homers.

Frank Bissman's Lightning class sailboat will be completely rigged with nylon sails next season. . . . Mohican club's 1947 racing season on Charles Mill lake begins May 30 with races each Sunday. . . . Beauteous Marilyn Skeese will referee the comedy basketball game at Senior high school Saturday night. . . . Lads in the know say Marilyn's officiating costume is a bathing suit.

ELMER CLARK, New Haven high school basketball player, has one of the best scoring records in the area. . . . Clark has connected for 216 points in 17 games, an average of 12.7 a game. . . . The 1947 Ohio Amateur golf tournament will be held on the tricky Congress Lake links near Canton, July 14-19. . . . Dom DiMaggio says the Boston Red Sox will repeat as American league champions and that the Gold Sox will whip the St. Louis Cardinals in the World Series.

Bo McMillin, the Indiana word magician, really wowed 'em at the recent Texas grid banquet with the aid of a grass skirt and a lei.

When Joe Gordon was traded to Cleveland, he had played 1,000 games for the Yankees and had made just 1,000 hits. . . . Ohio State university, team winner of the AAU swimming title in 1946, will sponsor the men's indoor championships at Columbus, April 4 and 5. . . . Notre Dame will play Navy in Cleveland on Nov. 21. . . . It's the seventh time the two schools have collided in the Ohio city. . . . The Irish have won 15 and the Navy four in the series which started in 1927.

VERSATILE Bill Dudley last week was named the National Football league's rushing leader. . . . Now figures show the retired Pittsburgh Steeler led the loop in pass interceptions with 10, running them back 242 yards. . . . Champion Chicago Bears intercepted a total of 27 tosses for the team title. . . . Ohio Wesleyan baseball diamonds are a busy place as the Bishops prepare for a spring baseball jaunt. . . . Don Hutson, the pass-catcher supreme, is back in the news. . . . His Green Bay bowling alleys is host to the Wisconsin state pin meet.

It's the largest state meet in the history of the American Bowling Congress with 2,905 teams competing.

Eight bowlers have turned in 300's in ABC sanctioned competition this season. . . . The Cleveland Browns, All-America pro grid champs, now have a basketball team. . . . Included are such guys as Dante Lavelli, Cliff Lewis, Lou Groza, Moe Scarry, Marion Motley, Ernie Blandin, Horace Gillom and Gene Fekete.

Veterans Topple Lucas High Five

LUCAS—The Lucas Veterans and the high school cagers broke even in a doubleheader here last night. The Veterans first stringers toppled the varsity 40 to 26. Bill Hammett tallied 19 points for the Veterans.

PAUL BIXLER WILL SUCCEED VET ANDY KERR

Returns To Red Raiders After Six-Year Absence.

HAMILTON, N. Y.—(AP) Paul O. Bixler, head football coach at Ohio State university, was named today to succeed veteran Andy Kerr as chief gridiron mentor at Colgate university.

Appointment of Bixler, who returns to Colgate after six years at Ohio State, was announced by Colgate Athletic Director William A. Reid on behalf of the athletic council.

Kerr, tutor of Red Raider grid squads for the last 18 years, retires next June 30. The 40-year-old Bixler was assistant coach and scout for Kerr from 1939 to 1941, and also was Colgate basketball and baseball coach.

Bixler moved to Ohio State in 1941 as coach of ends and wingbacks and was named a year ago to succeed Carroll Widdoes as chief coach. His Ohio State Big Nine team won four games, lost three and tied two last season.

At Colgate Bixler will have the title of associate of physical education and will name his own assistants, subject to approval by Colgate President Everett Case and the athletic council's executive committee.

Bixler began his football career in prep school at Louisville, Ky. He played guard and fullback for Mt. Union college where he received his B.A. degree in 1929. After coaching two years at Canton, O., Central junior high, he became football line coach and basketball coach at Canton's McKinley high where his cage teams won 45 games and lost nine. His college coaching span started in 1937 at Akron university where he was assistant in football and head basketball mentor.

Rocky Graziano To Tell Story of Bribe Offer

NEW YORK—(AP)—Rocky Graziano was expected to tell from the witness stand today his own story of a $100,000 offer to throw a fight.

The knockout-specialist from New York's east side is one of five witnesses his attorney planned to call today in the state athletic commission's hearing to determine whether Graziano violated its rules when he failed to report the bribe offer. The commission has power to impose lifetime banishment from the New York ring.

No doubt Rocky will be asked to explain formally whether he thought the whole fix attempt was a joke and whether, as the district attorney contends, he knew the would-be fixers by name but refused to identify them for fear of possible gangster reprisal.

Graziano repeatedly has asserted he was not afraid; that he did not know the men by name but might have picked them out if the district attorney had given him the opportunity, as he offered, before the case became public.

The district attorney has countered by claiming Graziano was telling an untruth about not knowing the men, but at yesterday's session Assistant District Attorney Alfred Scotti admitted this contention was just his "belief" and that he was not infallible. Scotti also admitted he did not contact police to try to find the attempted fixer and that he never asked Graziano for a description of the man.

Scotti's testimony was that Graziano, recalling a $100,000 bribe offer before his 1945 fight with the late Al Davis, told Scotti, "I was somewhat poor then, so I told the guy 'Lemme see it in my hand'." And concerning a fix attempt before Graziano's scheduled Dec. 27 bout with Ruben Shank, which never materialized, Scotti testified Rocky told him he said to the man, "I'll see ya," both times the man approached him. But "I never asked Graziano directly whether he had agreed to the fix," Scotti admitted.

Shelby Quintet Extends Long Victory Streak

The Shelby Merchants extended their loop winning streak to eight straight by defeating Westinghouse 32 to 16, in the YMCA Commercial B league last night at the "Y" court.

Shelby grabbed a first quarter lead 9 to 4 and held Westinghouse scoreless in the second frame to gain a 21 to 4 margin at half time.

OPS Uuset.

Dominion Electric upset the Ohio Pulic Service 43 to 25. Center Jergers, Electric center, tallied nine field goals and two gratis heaves for 20 points. OPS was in third place while Dominion held down sith position.

The Dominion five jumped off to a 11 to 0 lead in the first quarter and enlarged it to 20 to 8 at hlf time. Going into the final period the Electricians held a 32 to17 margin.

Phalax fraternity won its seventh game in eight starts by swamping Mansfield Plating, 32 to 20. Plaing Forward Moore was high man for both teams with five twopointers.

Bradford and Bowman led the Brodie cigar store quintet to a 37 to 25 victory over Mansfield Tire. Bradford collected 15 tallies while Bowman scored 12 points.

Purdue Swats Illini, 51-42

CHICAGO —(AP)— Purdue's role as a "dark horse" in the Western conference basketball title race became more pronounced today following the Boilermaker's 51 to 42 win last night over Illinois.

The victory was the third straight for the Boilermakers and pushed them into a third place tie with Michigan, each with three wins and two defeats.

The Illini's defeat virtually eliminated them from any hopes for the 1947 conference cage championship. The Illini's setback, third in seven games and coming after a four-game winning streak, dropped them into a tie with Minnesota for fifth place.

Indiana, in second place with a 4-2 record, will be the only team idle this weekend. Iowa, in eighth place with two wins in seven games, plays at Illinois; Minnesota meets leading Wisconsin (5-1) at Madison; Ohio state, in seventh place with a 2-4 record, opposes Michigan at Ann Arbor and Purdue tangles with Northwestern, in last place with one win and six defeats, in Chicago stadium.

SIMPSON NOTCHES CITY CAGE CROWN

John Simpson won the Mansfield junior high basketball championship by defeating Johnny Appleseed, 34 to 25, before 1,400 fans at Senior high school last night.

However, the favored Bulldog aggregation had to overcome a never-say-die Appleseed outfit which kept in the thick of things until the final period. In fact, the Appleseed Pioneers twice held a five-point lead in the first half.

The victory was the 12th for Simpson in the seven-year cage rivalry. Appleseed has won only once over Simpson.

Lead Changes Hands.

This was the first year that the teams had only one game scheduled and the record crowd was treated to one of the most thrilling contests staged on the Tyger floor this year. The lead changed hands nine times before Simpson finally went on top to stay in the last three minutes.

Appleseed, paced by clever shooting Howie Tipper, led at the quarter 8 to 5 but Simpson was in the van at the half, 15 to 14. The Pioneers led as the final stanza opened, 23 to 22. Tipper led both teams in scoring with 14 points.

However, it was merely a question of time when the more-experienced Simpson club would get going. And get going they did in the final three minutes to rack up nine straight points after the score had been tied at 25-25.

Don Cline, Simpson forward, followed Tipper in the scoring column with 13 markers. Cline and Johnny Sazdanoff accounted for nine Bulldog points in the final chukker.

Officials Eddie Finnegan and Lars Wagner called 29 personal fouls, 15 on the Appleseed club. Jim Anderson and Jack Bargahiser were banished for rule infractions. Anderson left the game in the third period.

The reports, quoting informed sources, said the ex-Green Bay Packer star would resign to accept the head coaching job with the Baltimore entry in the All-America pro conference.

Isbell wouldn't talk much about the matter.

BERKLEY, Calif.—(INS)—Football Coad Fritz Chrisler headed back to his home grounds at the University of Michigan today.

The respected Michigan mentor left behind him a flurry of speculation in regard to his attitude toward the grid coaching post at the University of California.

California officials left the door open for a bid to Chrisler just before he left. A previous university announcement was interpreted as a flat denial of reports that Chrisler was considering the Berkeley job.

Madison Hoopsters Play Willard Here Tomorrow

By BRUCE M'GINTY

With Mansfield playing at Sandusky, the area cage spotlight will shine on Madison high school tomorrow night.

Coach Jeff DeHaven's Madison Rams play host to Willard and hope to knock off the visitors for the second time. DeHaven's cagers toppled Willard 40 to 31 in the previous engagement.

Coach Vern Hoffman's Tyger quintet is favored to capture its seventh victory in the last eight starts. The Sandusky Blue Streak records stands at two wins and eight defeats. However, the Blue Streaks are reported much stronger than statistics show.

Win Streaks Snapped.

Mansfield snapped a 10 game winning streak for the Ashland A's last Friday night, 47 to 39, while Madison had a nine game victory skein stopped at Shelby Tuesday night, 32 to 16.

In the Richland county league the all important game will be the Butler-Lexington contest. Coach Ed Wysocki's Butler Bulldogs entertain Coach John Rees's Minutemen.

Butler clinched the county crown last week and will be after its 13th loop win. Lexington is in undisputed possession of second place with nine victories against three setbacks. Butler will celebrate its annual homecoming tomorrow night.

Shiloh will be after its first win on the Plymouth court. Coach Bob Lindsey's Plymouth team has split even in 12 games.

Coach Orville Kibler's Bellville Blue Jays travel to Union. The Blue Jays are after their ninth win. Union has won only two county tilts.

Coach W. S. Barger's Lucas squad will invade Ontario's court in search of its fourth win. Ontario has won seven out of 12 contests.

Bucyrus Invaded.

Norwalk invades Bucyrus in the only Northern-Ohio fracas. Norwalk has grabbed three of its five loop games while Bucyrus has a two and three record. Norwalk entertains Toledo Macomber Saturday night.

Shelby will be the decided underdog when the Taylor Tots of Ashland play the Whippets in a non-league tussle at Shelby. Bellevue entertains Port Clinton and Upper Sandusky is host to Ada.

Galion is a slight favorite to knock off Marion Harding on the Galion court.

Mt. Gilead's Indians seek their first Morrow county league victory against Iberia Saturday night. The game will be played on the Mt. Gilead court.

Pro Boxing Show at Armory Tonight

VETERAN MOSE BROWN FIGHTS IN MAIN EVENT

Plenty of action is in the making at tonight's benefit professional fisticuff festival.

There'll be two bouts between the big boys and three with the lighter species of ring workmen appearing. And there will be a special added attraction when two paperweights from New York tangle in a three-rounder. The youngsters—Mike and Ike—toss a lot of leather for a couple of guys that weigh almost nothing.

None In Own Class.

Joe Brown, the slender light-heavy, who has yet to meet a clouter in his own class goes against Mose Brown, the Pittsburgh kayo artist, in the eight-round main event. Joe expected to tip the scales at 172 with Mose coming in at 180

Mose Brown has fought most of the big names that reside on tin-ear terrace. He has come up against Jimmy Bivins, Ken Overlin, Ezzard Charles, Curtis (Hatchetman) Sheppard, Phil Muscato, Tommy Yarosz, Anton Christoforidis, and Melio Bettina. Bettina and Christoforidis are former light-heavy champs while Overlin held the middleweight title.

He has been fighting pro since 1939.

Joe Brown has won six of his seven pro battles, five by knockout.

Chuck Albrecht, hard-hitting Mansfielder, meets Canton's Tommy Pitt in the other bout between the big boys Albrecht, a southpaw, is making his second local start. He kayoed Johnny Streater, Canton, in his first bout.

Long Win Streak.

Dick Alexander will try to run his personal winning streak to 10 against Charley Cox, Huntington, W. Va. welter in the semi-final Dandy Dick has won eight straight before a Mansfield crowd

The six-round tangle will pit Gale Frye, Mansfield, and Al Ingraham, Huntington, together. Frye has had three pro fights, winning two by knockouts in the Armory ring.

A portion of the proceeds will be used to defray the medical expenses of Roger Rucker, Mansfield light-heavy, who suffered a fractured jaw in a bout here last month Mansfield Bartender's local 270 is sponsoring the fights

The first bout will start at 8 15

The card follows:

George Day Marcillon vs Al Lettel Akron lightweights (4).

Chuck Albrecht Mansfield vs Tommy Pitt Canton heavyweights (4)

Gale Frye Mansfield vs Al Ingraham, Huntington W Va, lightweights (6)

Dick Alexander, Mansfield vs. Charley Cox, Huntington, welterweights (6)

Joe Brown Mansfield vs Mose Brown Pittsburgh heavyweights (6)

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. —Adv

It's BUICK for '47!

STEP up now, good people, and meet the fashion master of the new season.

Here's Buick for 1947 — style-wise, performance-wise, quality-wise and value-wise the sweetest "buy" your dollars are going to find anywhere this year.

Eye well that sparkling new grille — behind it you'll be plainly marked as strictly up to 1947 in your travel standards.

Take in the tapering grace of long, sweep-through fenders—there's the hallmark of a style pattern sure to bring you notice and approval wherever you may go.

Note the reach of the bonnet — long, deep, broad-chested — there's a lifetime of thrills in such bountiful supply of Buick Fireball straight-eight power.

Spot the solid footing of a carriage big as you deserve — the breadth of beam that spells room aplenty—the ready-to-go poise of four coil-sprung wheels ready to level the roughest roads into boulevard smoothness.

And in particular, mark down this:

Not one smart model but nine will present this fresh front to the world this season.

Cars in three series, three wheelbases and three price ranges give you a triple-barreled chance to know Buick size, Buick beauty, Buick ability when you travel.

Choose from two versions of the garage-handy SPECIAL — four of the light-footed SUPER — three of the great-hearted ROADMASTER series.

In each you'll find a rich abundance of the things that make Buick America's most wanted automobile — engines that seem to stay forever young, the matchless buoyancy of BuiCoil springing, the spaciousness of great room, the feathery handling of controls that are always "obediently yours."

Naturally—demand is going to be great; a sweetheart like this is bound to bring the suitors flocking.

So how about coming in — right away — and getting your order on our books?
